This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

NOTICE.

The collection of books described in the following pages is, beyond all question, the most extensive in its special department ever offered for sale. Its acquisition has been the unwearied occupation of Mr. Field for many years, and the result is an unusually complete series of books, on a subject which is daily increasing in its interest — the American Indians. It is scarcely necessary for us to say, that it is simply impossible to study the history of this continent without reference to this topic. An entirely complete collection of books relative to the Indians, includes a large proportion of the works which compose American history.

In the preface to his "Essay on Indian Bibliography," Mr. Field remarks:

"A general catalogue of works illustrative of the history, literature, and archæology of the Aborigines of both Americas, had been in progress of composition for several years, as a guide to the author's collection of that class of books. As it grew in proportions, by the slow accretions which study and experience furnished, the author's vanity was easily flattered into the design of producing a work of more general utility. The material collected at length covered so wide a range, that it embraced not only transcripts of the titles of such printed works as were personally examined, or were to be found in catalogues of public and private libraries, with a collation of their pages, and synopsis of their contents, but also the titles of articles upon the same subjects, printed in reviews, historical collections, magazines, and other ephemera. More than two thousand five hundred separate works, and twelve hundred essays, had been catalogued, with their topical range noted, before the vast extent of the unexplored territory to be examined, began to exhibit some of its formidable proportions. It was plainly demonstrated, that the projected task must be either abandoned or greatly abridged. That portion of the task which could be most readily detached and wrought into unity, was the catalogue of works on the American Aborigines, in the author's possession. To determine the selection of works which should be included in that category, they have been subjected to a few simple rules of classification.

"All works which purported in their titles to contain historic, narrative, or literary material, relating to the American Indians.

"Books in which any distinct portion, chapter, or appendix claimed by its heading, or table of contents, to be devoted to that subject.

"Works containing engravings, illustrative of the manners of of the aborigines, when derived from actual observation.

"All treatises, or essays, upon their origin, or the pre-Columbian discovery of America, as affecting the source of its population.

"Those works of fiction or poetry founded on Indian life, to which were appended historical notes, incidents of personal experience, or traditions and legends, of the Indians.

"All works containing grammatical analyses, or vocabularies of their language, as well as translations, into or from them, would of course form a part of the collection."

How far Mr. Field has succeeded in filling out the lines thus indicated, this catalogue will afford evidence. In some departments he has been specially fortunate. It is not too much to say that his collection of public documents is unapproachable. The Indian Department at Washington has not succeeded in procuring many which are to be found in this library. Not the least important are the many pamphlets, some of only a few pages, and apparently of little worth, are of great rarity — and they are rare, partly because of their size, or rather want of size. For in many respects books are like people, the big ones take care of themselves, the little ones get lost, strayed or destroyed. We bespeak for the little ones in this Library that consideration which they undoubtedly deserve. On another page we have given a list of Desiderata including books which have a special individual value.

Another and a very important feature of this library is the large collection of the publications of Historical Societies, many of which have not been included in Mr. Field's Essay, because their primary subject was not Indian. They are none the less valuable on that account, and indeed to the collector in general have perhaps a greater interest for they include histories of all the States, Revolutionary History, War of 1812, etc.

Mr. Field's "Essay on Indian Bibliography" has formed the basis of the present catalogue. We have added to it the titles of such books as have been purchased since the publication of that work in 1873. To the works thus added the notes appended are sometimes by Mr. Field. Many works of importance, which were in his possession at the time of its publication had accidentally dropped out of his list. Lord Kingsborough's Mexico is a case in point; and now that we are on the subject of omissions we may remark that by an accident, which it is not worth while to explain, a portion of the copy for this catalogue was also lost. This circumstance has contributed to the necessity of an Addenda. For the same reason "Bry" has been necessarily carried on to De Bry and even then it forms a star lot, a dignity which it deserves, for it is undoubtedly the finest set of books in the sale.

The Titles in Mr. Field's Essay have sometimes been abridged, sometimes given in full, his elaborate and eloquent notes have in many instances been shorn of their chief features, but the reader can supply that want by procuring a copy of Mr. Field's Essay.*

Where no description of the binding is given it is to be understood that the book is in ordinary condition. Many of the books have been bound by W. Mathews, J. M. Bradstreet, & Sons, and are good specimens of their work.

Let us hope that the financial result of the sale of the collection will not be a severe loss to the owner, for it must be admitted that the tolerable certainty of getting your money back is not a bad incentive to the collector of books, or indeed of any other article of taste or vertu.

J. SABIN & SONS.

84 Nassau Street,
New York, April 15, 1875.

---

* The reader of the Essay will not fail to notice the strong humanitarian views which are held by Mr. Field. It would be difficult for any one to add to the energetic adjectives which distinguish some of his denunciations of the perpetrators of cruelties on the Indians.

7 ACOSTA (J.) Iosephi | Acosta | societatis | Iesv | de Natvra Novi Orbis | libri duo. | Et | De Promvlgatione | evangelii apud | Bar- 1.50 baros | sine | de pro-cvranda Indorvm | salute Libri Sex. 12°, hogskin. | Coloniae Agrippinae, In officiana Birckmannica, Sumptibus. Arnoldi Mylii, 1596.

Natural History of the New World, in two books, and of the Promulgation of the Gospel among the Savages; with the method of securing the salvation of the Indians.

An entirely distinct work from the Historia Natural printed at Seville in 1590, and translated into almost every language of Europe. Books one and two were subsequently enlarged to the Natural History, but at page 99 the title "De Procuranda Salvte Indorum" announces another work which has never been printed in English. All the remainder of the volume is devoted to a description of the methods by which the Indians of the New World were to be brought into the dominion of the Christian Church.

18.00 8 ACOSTA. The | Natvrall and | Morall Historie of the East | and | West Indies | Intreating of the remarkable things of Heaven; of the Elements, Mettalls, Plants and Beasts which are pro | per to that Country. Together with the Manners, Ceremonies, Lawes, Governments and Warres of | the Indians. | Written in Spanish by Ioseph Acosta, and translated | into English by E. G. 4°, morocco. Lond., 1604

His work has been justly esteemed for its intrinsic merit, indubitable evidence of which is found in the fact that it has been translated into almost every language of Europe having a literature. Pp. 327 to 590, are entirely devoted to a relation of the history, customs and warres of the Indians. Although one of the earliest, he was one of the most curious and accurate observers of the customs and peculiarities of the Aborigines. Scarcely a trait which has excited the attention of the historian or the narrator in the three centuries which have elapsed, has escaped his observation and description. Perfect copies of the English edition are quite rare.

1.13 9 ACOSTA. Historie Naturael ende Morael van de Westerishe Indien. Small 8°, old vellum. Tot Enchuysen, 1598

This Dutch Translation was made by Linschoten, from the Seville Edition of 1591, and forms the basis of the version in De Bry's Collection.—See Sabin's Dictionary.

2.25 10 ACUGNA (C. d'). Voyages and Discoveries in South America. The First up the River of Amazons to Quito in Peru, and back again to Brazil, perform'd at the Command of the King of Spain. By Christopher d'Acvgna. The Second up the River of Plata, and thence by Land to the Mines of Potosi. By Mons. Acarete. The Third from Cayenne into Guiana, in Search of the Lake of Parima, reputed the richest Place in the World. By M. Grillet and Bechamel. Done into English from the Originals, being the only Accounts of those Parts hitherto extant....Illustrated with Notes and Maps. 2 Maps. 8°, calf. London, 1698

Chapters xxvi. to xliii. of Acugna's Relation, and almost all of Grillet and Bechamel are devoted to descriptions of the Indian tribes they encountered. Their naratives possess a greater interest from being made by the first Europeans who traversed these regions, and penetrated to the territories of the Indian nations, the Arragoues and Nouragones.

13 ADAIR (J.). The History of the American Indians; particularly Those Nations adjoining to the Mississippi, East and West Florida, Georgia, South and North Carolina, and Virginia. Containing An Account of their Origin, Language, Manners, Religious and Civil Customs, Laws, Form of Government, Punishments, Conduct in War and Domestic Life, their Habits, Diet, Agriculture, Manufactures, Diseases, and Method of Cure, and other Particulars sufficient to render it A Complete Indian System... By James Adair,...A Trader with the Indians, and Resident of their Country for Forty Years. Map. 4°, sheep. London, 1775

Although it cannot be claimed for this author that he ranked first in priority of time, his name is first on our alphabetical register of a great number of writers whose imaginations have been struck by the astonishing coincidence of many particulars of the customs and religious rites of some of the American Nations with those of the Jews. The relations of an intelligent observer (as this Indian trader seems to have been), for so long a period as forty years, of the peculiarities of the Southern Indians, among whom he resided for that period, is not without great value; although we should have reason to hold it in still greater esteem, had the author cherished no favorite dogma to establish, or detested any which he wished to destroy.

14 ADAMS (A.). A Concise, Historical View of the Difficulties, Hardships, and Perils which attended the Planting and progressive Improvements of New-England, with a Particular Account of its Long and Destructive Wars, Expensive Expeditions, &c. This edition of Levinus Apolonius, relating to the discovery of Peru, a celebrated country in the West Indies, and of what occurred there) is not cited in Sabin's Dictionary. The first two books are occupied with an account of the discovery of the country, and of the wars with the Incas. The remainder of the work is principally devoted to the civil war between Rojerro and Alvarado. The wood cut map is rarely found with the work.

[Vocabulary, or Manual of the Spanish and Mexican Language; in which are contained the words, questions, and answers most ordinarily used in communications between the Spaniards and Indians. Composed by Pedro de Arenas. Printed with license and approbation in Mexico, 1611.]

The date of the Privilege is 1611. Sabin's Dictionary, says, "A volume of great rarity. A complete copy is scarcely known." And Ternaux remarks that it is "A small and very rare volume."

Botturino, in his Catalogo del Musey Indio, places the Vocabulario under the date of 1583; but as it is not uncommon to ante-date works printed without the year being named, and I am inclined to believe the edition of 1611 to be the first.

62 ASHER (G. M.). Henry Hudson the Navigator. The original 4.75 Documents in which his Career is Recorded, Collected, partly Translated, and Annotated, with an Introduction. By G. M. Asher. 8°, cloth uncut.

London, printed for the Hakluyt Society, 1860

The relations of his three voyages to the coast of America by the eminent and unfortunate discoverer, afford us the first authentic information regarding the Indians of New York, and of the Esquimaux of Labrador. The editor asserts what we do not recollect to have seen elsewhere stated: "Verrazano seems to have been the pilot [of Samson and Mary] and to have lost his life in an encounter with the North American Indians." p. XCV. of Introduction.

64 ATWATER (C.). The Writings of Caleb Atwater. 8°, half morocco, pp. 408. Columbus, 1833

5.75 A Description of the Antiquities discovered in the Western Country; originally communicated to the American Antiquarian Society. And "Remarks made on a Tour to Prairie Du Chien; thence to Washington City in 1829."

The zeal and industry of the author, stimulated by a thirst for the acquisition of knowledge regarding the mysterious people of whom these were the relics, have produced a work not much less valuable, because the author had little scientific training, to teach him for what to search.

65 ATWATER (C.). Remarks made on a Tour to Prairie du Chien; thence to Washington City, in 1829. By Caleb Atwater, late 4.75 Commissioner employed by the United States to negotiate with the Indians of the Upper Mississippi, for the purchase of Mineral Country ... 12°, sheep. Columbus, 1831

Some very curious particulars relating to Customs of the Winnebagoes are related by Atwater. Although nothing indicating the mission of Atwater appears on the title, yet the real object of his tour was to procure as commissioner of the government, a cession of the title of the Winnebago, Pottawatomie, Chippewa, and Ottawa Indians, in the rich mineral lands, now forming the State of Wisconsin and part of Illinois.

Much the greater part of the work is devoted therefore to a narration of the peculiarities of those tribes which he visited, biography of some of their chiefs, Indian poetry, specimens of their language, and incidents of his associations with them.

On pages 149 to 172 the author has given "Rudiments of the Grammar of the Sioux Language," all of which is omitted in the edition of 1833. On pp. 75 to 85 he offers an analysis of the Winnebagoes dialect, as amplifying some theories regarding the origin of the Chippewa tribes.

66 ATWATER (C.). A History of the State of Ohio, Natural and 5.75 Civil, by Caleb Atwater, A.M. Second Edition. 8°, sheep.
Cincinnati, (1838)

Narrates Lord Dunmore's War on the Ohio Indians—Harmar's and St. Clair's Campaign in 1790 and 1791, and Wayne's War, Gen. Tupper's Expedition, Mississinaway Expedition, The Siege of Fort Meigs, and Croghan's Defense of Fort Stephenson.

Toronto, Maclear & Co., 1855

Contains many particulars of the employment of Indians by the British Government, and educes evidence to disprove the charge of the barbarous cruelty in the treatment of prisoners by the savages.

71 AZARA (F. de). Voyages dans L'Amérique Méridionale, par
.75 Don Felix de Azara, Commissaire et Commandant des limites Espagnoles dans le Paraguay, depuis 1781 jusq'en 1801; Contenant

la description géographique, politique et civile du Paraguay et de la rivière de La Plata; l'histoire de la découverte et de la conquête de ces contrées; des détails nombreux sur leur histoire naturelle, et sur le peuples sauvages qui les habitent; le récit des moyens employés par les Jésuites pour assujétir et civiliser les indigénes, etc. Publiés d'après les Manuscrits de l'auteur, avec une notice sur sa vie et ses écrits, par C. A. Walckenaer,... Accompagnés d'un Atlas de vingt-cinq planches. 4 vols., 8°, half calf, and atlas in 4°, containing 13 maps and plans, and 12 plates. Paris : Dentu, imprimeur-libraire, 1809

These Travels in South America, from 1781–1801; contain a geographic, political, and civil description of Paraguay and of the River de la Plata. The history of the conquest of these countries; numerous details of their natural history; and of the savage people who inhabit them. With a narration of the means employed by the Jesuits to subject and civilize the Indians, etc.

The author received the appointment of Colonel of Engineers in 1780, and embarked in 1781 as a commissioner on the part of Spain to settle the boundary between the Spanish possessions in Paraguay and the Portuguese territory of Brazil. In which employment he remained for twenty-two years.

72 BACK (G). Narrative of the Arctic Land Expedition to the Mouth of the Great Fish River, and along the Shores of the Arctic Ocean, in the Years 1833, 1834, and 1835. By Captain Back, R. N., Commander of the Expedition... Large Paper 4°, pp xi. + 663 + map and 14 plates. Lond., John Murray, 1836 4.25

The plates are on India paper, and having as well as the text been taken with great care, the whole work is a splendid specimen of typographic art.

73 BACK. Narrative [another edition]. Illustrated by a Map and Plates. 8°, half calf, pp. 663, 16 plates and Map. London, 1836 1.88

74 BACK. Narrative [American Edition]. Map. 8°, half morocco. Philadelphia, 1836 2.75

Capt. Back's Narrative is crowded with details of his intercourse with the Crees, Chippewyans, Dog Rib, and Coppermine Indians, upon whom he, as well as Captain Franklin, was obliged to depend in great measure for subsistence during the terrible privations of an Arctic winter. No intelligent comprehension of the character of the savage tribes of the frozen regions of North America can be obtained without reading the narratives of Captains Franklin and Back; both of whose Journals of their overland expeditions are largely occupied with descriptions of Indian life and peculiarities.

Description du Fleuve de Saint | Laurent, le gouvernement de Quebec, des | trois Rivieres & de Montreal, depuis 1534. | jusqu' à 1701. | Par Mr. de Bacqueville de la Potherie | né à la Guadaloupe, dans l' Amerique Me- | ridionale, Aide Major de la dite Isle. | Enriche des Figures. 4 vols., 16°, 27 plates vellum.

Paris, 1753

This History of North America, containing the Voyage to Fort Nelson in Hudson's Bay on the northern extremity of America. The first establishment of the French in this vast country, the capture of the said Fort Nelson, Description of the River St. Lawrence, the Government of Quebec, of the Three Rivers and of Montreal from 1534 to 1701, is very imperfectly described in the title to the first volume. Each one of the four composing it has a distinct title, as much descriptive of a different purpose as a separate work. Vol. II contains a "History of the Native Allies of New France, their Religion, and their interests with all the Hurons and the Illinois. Vol. III, "History of the Iriquois." Vol. IV, "History of the Abnaquis Indians, the general Peace in all North America, under the government of the Count Frontenac and the Chevalier de Callieres, during which the Indian Nations residing six hundred leagues from Quebec assembled at Montreal." Indeed it is a complete history of the Indian nations of Canada. Much of this work is written from his own observation, and the remainder seems to have been derived from authentic sources.

76 BAILEY (R.). The Life and Adventures of Robert Bailey, 1.25 from his infancy up to December, 1821, interspersed with Anecdotes... Portrait. 8°, sheep. Richmond, 1822

78 BALBOA (M. C.). History du Perou. Par Miguel Cavello Balboa. Inédite. 8°, uncut. Paris, A. Bertrand, M.D.CCC.XL.

This History of Peru, never before printed, is entirely occupied with the history of the Incas, and other Indian nations, prior to the invasion of Pizarro, and closes with the murder, by this tyrant, of Atahualipa. Its value to us is greatly enhanced in its being an independent chronicle, according so often with, and differing so often from, that of Garcilaso de la Vega.

79 BALDWIN (T.). Narrative of the Massacre, by the Savages, 2.25 of the Wife and Children of Thomas Baldwin, who since the melancholy period of the destruction of his unfortunate family, has dwelt entirely alone, in a hut of his own construction,... in the extreme Western part of... Kentucky. 8°, pp. 24. Plate.

New York, 1835

80 BALLANTYNE (R. M.). Hudson's Bay; or, Every-Day Life 1.50 in the Wilds of North America, during Six Years' Residence in the Territories of the Hon. Hudson's Bay Company. By Robert Michael Ballantyne. 12°, cloth, pp. 298. Boston, 1859

A complete, interesting, and evidently faithful narration of the various phases of a Fur Trader's life.

81 [BANCROFT (EDWARD)]. An Essay on the Natural History of Guiana, In South America. Containing A Description of many Curious Productions in the Animal and Vegetable Systems of that Country. Together with an Account of The Religion, Manners, and Customs of Several Tribes of its Indian Inhabitants. 8°, half morocco. London, M.D.CC.LXIX. 1.13

The especial subject of the author's inquiries regarding the Indians, is the nature and use of the Wourali Poison, with which their weapons are charged.

82 BARAGA (F.). A Theoretical and Practical Grammar of the Otchipwe Language, the Language spoken by the Chippewa Indians; which is also spoken by the Algonquin, Otawa, and Potawatami Indians, with little difference... By the Rev. Frederick Baraga, Missionary at L'Ange, Lake Superior. Square, 12°, half calf, pp. 506. Detroit, 1850 12.50

83 BARBARITES OF THE ENEMY, exposed in a Report of the Committee of the House of Representatives of the United States... appointed to enquire into the spirit and manner in which the war has been waged by the Enemy, and the Documents accompanying said Report. 16°, sheep, pp. 192. Worcester, 1814 1.13

Contains the testimony criminating the British military officers in the horrible massacres perpetrated by the Indians after the surrender of the Americans as prisoners of war.

84 [BARBE-MARBOIS.] Complot D'Arnold et de Sir Henry Clinton contre Les États-Unis d'Amèrique et contre Le Genéral Washington Septembre 1780. Sm. 8vo, pp. 44, 184. Portraits of Washington and Arnold, and Plan of West Point. Paris, Didot l'ainê, MDCCCXVI. 1.50

A translation by Robert Walsh, Esq., is contained in the second volume of the American Register for 1817.

85 BARBER (Mrs.). Narrative of the Tragical Death of Mr. Darius Barber and his Seven Children, who were inhumanly butchered by the Indians in Camden County, Georgia, Jannary 26, 1816. [Wood-cut of 8 Coffins.] To which is added an account of the Captivity and Sufferings of Mrs Barber, who was carried away a Captive by the Savages, and from whom she fortunately made her escape six weeks afterwards. It may be a gratification to the reader to learn that the said tribe of Savages have been since exterminated by the Brave and Intrepid Gen. Jackson, and the Troops under his Command. 12°, pp. 24. Boston, Printed for David Hazen. Price 9d. 3.00

86 BARBER (J. W.). Connecticut Historical Collections... By John Warner Barber. 200 Engravings. 8°, roan. New Haven, [1846] 4.25

87 BARBER. The History and Antiquities of New England, New
3.12 York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, embracing the following Subjects, viz.: Discoveries and Settlements; Indian History; Indian, French, and Revolutionary Wars; Religious History; Biographical Sketches; Anecdotes, Traditions, Remarkable and Unaccountable Occurrences; with a great variety of Curious and Interesting Relics of Antiquity. Illustrated by numerous Engravings, collected and arranged by John Warner Barber. Third Edition. 8°, pp. 624. Hartford, Allen S. Stillman & Son, 1856.

88 BARCIA (A. G.). Historiadores primitivos de las Indias Occi-
14.50 dentales, que juntó, traduxo en parte, y sacò à luz, ilustrados con eruditas Notas, y copiosos Indices, el illustrissimo Señor D. Andres Gonzales Barcia. 3 vols., folio, vellum.

Madrid, Año M.D.CCXL IX.

This Original Historical Memoir of the West Indies, collected, and partly translated, for the formation of a clearer history; illustrated with learned Notes and Copious Indices. Is rarely complete, the pieces having been printed separately and at different periods, and having each an independent pagination, were looked upon as complete in themselves. Many of them having been destroyed, it is believed that not more than one hundred complete copies now exist. The parts were not collected until after the death of the author, which took place while they were passing through the press. Mr. Stevens says that it is difficult now to pronounce what constitutes a complete set, or in what order the parts should be arranged, as the printing occupied a period of more than twenty years. For further particulars consult Field, Rich and Sabin.

En Madrid, CIↃ IↃCCXXIIJ.

This General History of Florida contains the discoveries, and the principal events which happened in that Great Kingdom, to the Spaniards, French, Swedes, Danes, English, and other Nations, not only among themselves, but with the Indians. The Customs, Genius, Idolatries, Government, Wars and Strategies of the Indians, as related by themselves. The Voyages of some Captains and Pilots, in search of a Passage from the North Sea to the East, or a junction of the land with Asia: from the year 1512, when Florida was discovered by Juan Ponce de Leon to that of 1722, is filled with the most valuable material relating to the Indians who once inhabited the vast territory claimed by the Spaniards under the title of Florida, reaching from the northern lakes to the Gulf of Mexico and covering nearly all the States now united under the Federal Government.

It has been customary to repeat in most of the Catalogues containing Bartram's Travels, the comment found in Coleridge's Table Talk, that it is "The latest book of Travels I know, written in the spirit of the Old Travellers." This I suppose to mean that Bartram wrote with all the enthusiasm and interest with which the fervent old Spanish friars and missionaries narrated the wonders of the new found world.

Although more especially a naturalist, he neglected nothing which would add to the common stock of human knowledge. He not only offers us pictures of Indian life, and sketches of striking peculiarities of the tribes he had visited, but he gives us tables of names and localities of the numerous towns of the then populous nations of Creeks and Cherokees.

Part II, of Vol. I, is entitled "The Native Races of New Mexico," and is something more than a recital of the Spanish narrations from Venegas to Boscana, with their much less than credible theories of the origin of the Aborigines of Northwestern Mexico. He traces the migration northward of the Aztec race, driven by Spanish cruelty, with much ingenuity, by the ruins of their peculiar architecture.

London, 1828

Vol. II is almost entirely devoted to the author's travels among the Northwestern Indians, of whom he gives some novel particulars. The narrations of what he witnessed are tinged with the peculiar glow of the author's temperament. Beltrami must have moved in a gigantic world, if he saw external objects through the same media with which he viewed his own person and accomplishments. This volume is a translation, or perhaps more nearly a paraphrase, of that noticed above.

130 [BENEZET (Anthony).] Some Observations on the Situation, Disposition, and Character of the Indian Natives of this Continent. 18°, pp. 59. 3.50

Philadelphia, printed and sold by Joseph Cruikshank, 1784

Anthony Benezet, born in 1713, of a French family of St. Quentin, was driven from France by the revocation of the Edict of Nantes. Having fixed his residence in Philadelphia, he adopted the doctrine of the Quakers. His humanity impelled him to attempt an amelioration of the condition of both the Indians and negroes, by publishing treatises exhibiting the unhappy state to which each had been reduced, by the cupidity and neglect of the whites. He died in 1784.

Cincinnati, 1860

This is evidently a veritable relation of personal experience during three years' service as teacher and missionary among the Choctaws; and is the work of a man of sense, who does not fill his pages with the emotional religious exercises of his converts, but narrates the every-day story of incidents and character, grave or ludicrous, which presented themselves.

An essay on the Indian and Dutch names of New York, first printed in 1817, by the author. The peculiarly abrupt, and not very perspicuous style of the work, excited the criticism of the directors of the Society, who required some verbal changes before publication, which the author's prlde induced him to reject with indignation. A controversy arose of much acrimony, and Mr. Benson determined to vindicate his style by printing his essay. He does not, however, seem to have been entirely satisfied with it himself, as several copies exist with numerous manuscript additions and corrections. The second edition printed in Jamaica includes some of these, and is quite difficult to procure. The Society in 1848, after the death of the author, printed the address, in their seventh volume of Collections. Of this a few copies were issued in a separate form bearing on the title "Reprinted from a copy with the Author's last Corrections."

This rare book is the work of an old Italian traveller who, incited by the wonderful stories of the world discovered by his countryman fifty years before, adventured in 1541 to gain personal knowledge of it. The Aborigines of the countries he visited always seemed first to attract his attention; and he has accordingly afforded us some of the rarest pictures of their condition and habits at that early day, of which the rude wood-cuts printed in the text are quaint but spirited illustrations. It is the first book of Travels of which America has been so fruitful, as Benzoni seems to have been the first who travelled merely to gratify his curiosity and recorded his observations.

136 BENZONI (G.). History of the New World, by Giralamo Benzoni of Milan, showing his Travels in America from A. D. 1541 to 1556; with some particulars of the Island of Canary. Now first translated and edited by Rear Admiral W. H. Smyth. 8°. London, Hakluyt Society, 1857 7.50

The narrative of Giralamo Benzoni is one of the most interesting of all the early travellers in America, not only for the minute details of the life and habits of the Aborigines more than three centuries ago, but for the evident fidelity to truth, and the consequent reliance we may feel that we are viewing the common life of the natives before what we term civilization had corrupted them. Eighteen fac-similes of the curious wood-cuts of the period are inserted in the text, most of which are illustrative of some phases in the customs of the Indians.

137 BENZONI. [New History of the New World containing a summary of all that the Spaniards have done to the present time in the West Indies, and of the cruel treatment they have given the unfortunate natives. Translated from the Italian of Jerome Benzoni, the Milanois, who travelled in that country fourteen years. Enriched with many observations and facts worthy of being preserved. By Urban Chauveton, together with a short history of a massacre committed by the Spaniards upon some Frenchmen in Florida. With an Index of the most remarkable events.] The first Latin edition of Benzoni, and is chiefly valuable for the addition by Chauveton of the narration of Laudonierre.

The gentleman whose name is attached to this ingenious analysis of the elementary sounds of the Maya and other dialects, has devoted twelve years of his life to their study, most of which time he has resided in Yucatan. His zeal is only equaled by his scholarship; and to the ethnological results of his grammatical comparison of the eighteen dialects of which he is preparing a Dictionary and Grammar, many scholars in this country and Europe are directing the most profound regard.

Biography of Illustrious Indian Chiefs of North America, preceded by an Index of the Mythical History of that Continent. This work attempts something more than biographical sketches of famous Indians, as it gives a resumé of discovery, and wars with the natives, as a frame in which to hang his portraits of them. It is a very good compilation of the quite well known facts of aboriginal history, and, although containing little that is not already stored in the common stock of knowledge, it does not include much, if anything, of his own composition which is fallacious or speculative.

This is a very careful consideration of the tenure by which the United States acquired a title to the lands once occupied or claimed by the Indians. Mr. Blunt analyzes in a most judicious and impartial manner, the complex rights of the savage and the civilized claimants; more especially of those by which the State of New York assumes proprietorship of the lands once held by the Six Nations, and of the States of Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, in those of the Creeks, Choctaws, and Cherokees.

4.38 in New Granada, Equador, Peru, and Chile, with observations on the Pre-Incarial, Incarial and other Monuments of Peruvian Nations. By William Bollaert; with plates. 8°, pp. 279.
London, 1860

Mr. Bollaert is the author of several treatises on ethnological subjects, printed in the Anthropological Transactions of Europe, and brings to the consideration of his subject a rare combination of learning, ability, and zeal. He twice visited and personally examined the monuments of Incarial grandeur in Peru, and, besides the facts obtained during his tours in that country, his book is a cyclopedia of the records of South American Antiquities. Vocabularies of several Indian dialects are given on pp. 61, to 70 and 105 to 111. Most of the plates are illustrations of the ornaments, utensils, buildings, or idols of the natives.

Baltimore, 1837 2.50

After a resumé of the aboriginal history of the State derived from the relations of all the voyagers and travelers from Verrezano to John Smith, the author gives on pages 103 to 181 of Vol. I: "A general Sketch of the tribes of Indians then inhabiting Virginia and Maryland." The names of the various tribes, and the localities they occupied, together with the origin and signification of the Indian names of rivers and places, receive great attention from the author, whose numerous and lengthy notes attest the labor he bestowed upon the aboriginal history of his State.

192 BRASSEUR DE BOURBOURG. Lettre A. M. Léon de Rosny sur la découverte de documents relatifs a la haute antiquite Américaine, et sur le déchiffrement et l'interpretation de l' écriture phonétique et figurative de la langue Maya. Par Brasseur de Bourbourg. 8°, pp. 20 and folding plate. Paris, 1869 163

[Letter to M. Leon de Rosny on the discovery of documents relative to the ancient period of America, and on the deciphering and translation of the phonetic and figurative writing of the Mayas. By Brasseur de Bourbourg.] It is very difficult to assign the place which this extraordinary man will occupy in the annals of science, for his works are to-day nearly as great mysteries as the hieroglyphs his labors have illustrated. His industry in his researches into the history of the Aztec races is something not less than marvellous. Following his vocation as a priest and missionary, his literary appetite could only be allayed by writing a history of Canada, and perhaps the most unfortunate event for his fame which could possibly have happened was that it was printed. It did not escape the notice of historical students that the Abbe had accepted so much which was apocryphal, that his history was little better than a romance. When, therefore, he had, with heroic sacrifice of all personal ease, accepted the life of self-immolation of a missionary to the Indians of Mexico; had studied for years the relics of Aztec picture-writing; had learned and systematized in great treatises their modern dialects; the immense works which he then printed upon the history of the pre-Cortesian races, made scarcely a ripple on the quiet of the scientific world. He stands alone in the vast temple of learning which he has restored, if he did not erect. No human being can contest his solution of Aztec pictographs, nor does there exist one who can prove it to be true. His numerous volumes have at least this merit — they have done much to perpetuate the memory of a wonderful race.

193 BRASSEUR DE BROUBOURG. Histoire du Canada de son église et de ses missions depuis la découverte de l'Amerique jusqu' a nos jours, écrite sur des documents inédits compulsés dans les archives de l'Archeveché et de la ville de Quebec, etc. Par M. L'Abbe Brasseur de Bourbourg.... 2 vols., 8°. pp. 328, 350. Paris, Sagnier et Bray, 1832 3.13

[History of Canada, of its church and its mission, from the discovery of America to the present day, written from unedited documents.] This was the first historical essay of Mr. Brasseur de Bourbourg; and perhaps the most unfortunate for the fame of the learned author.

194 BRASSEUR DE BOURBOURG. Collection de documents dans les langues indigines pour servir a l'etude de l'histoire et de la philologie de l'Amerique ancienne. 4 vols. —

[Collection of documents upon the native languages, to aid in the study of the history and of the philology of ancient America.] This is the general title of four volumes of which the separate titles are given at length in Field's Essay.

210 BRINTON (Daniel G.). The Myths of the New World. A Treatise on the Symbolism and Mythology of the Red Race in America. 12°. New York, 1868

Is one of the most thoughtful and philosophical of all the mere speculative treatises on the American Aborigines. From the incompetency of their languages to express abstract ideas, he determines that they could never have originated or entertained any ideas of a purely spiritual Deity, and that in consequence, they must have derived all the notions they possess of a Great Spirit from European sources, subsequent to the Columbian discovery.

215 BRINTON. The Arawack Language of Guiana in its Linguistic and Ethnological Relations. By D. G. Brinton, M. D. Large 4°. Title and 18 pp. Phil., McCalla & Stavely, 1871

The object announced by the author, as the province of this work, is the tracing of the ancient course of empire and migration of this interesting tribe. Though now dwindled to the small number of two thousand souls, it is probable, from linguistic and social characteristics, that they are the representatives of a once great people, affiliating with now distant nations.

Also a Memoir of Rev. Alanson L. Covell, son of the former, and late a pastor of the first Baptist Church in the City of Albany, N. Y. By Mrs. C. D. Brown, daughter and sister of the deceased. 12°. Brandon Teleyraph Office, 1839

219 BROWN (H.). The History of Illinois, from its first Discovery and Settlement to the Present Time. By Henry Brown. 8°. New York, MDCCCXLIV 2.75

With great pretense in its chapter headings of saying much of the Aboriginal inhabitants of Illinois in the first 200 pages, the author gives us absolutely nothing but a melange of trite historical relations which blend Hannibal and Harrison, Tecumseh and Tonti, LaSalle and Ponce de Leon, in an astonishing, but not an interesting manner.

220 BROWN (J. M.). Origin of the American Indians, or How the New World Became Inhabited. A Lecture. By Hon. J. Madison Brown, before the Society of Historical Research, at Julian College. Small 4°, pp. 38 + 9 leaves. [Jackson Mich. 1860] 1.05

The author adduces most of the arguments, brought by the advocates of the descent of the American Aborigines from the lost Hebrew tribes, to fortify their hypothesis. He adds nothing to strengthen their position.

221 BROWN (S. R.). Views of the Campaigns of the Northwestern Army, comprising sketches of the campaigns of generals Hull and Harrison. A minute and interesting account of the Naval Conflict on Lake Erie, Military Anecdotes, Abuses in the Army, etc. 12°, pp. 156. Philadelphia, 1815 1.75

222 BROWNE (J. Ross). Adventures in the Apache Country. A tour through Arizona and Sonora; with notes on the Silver Regions of Nevada. Illustrated by the Author. 12°. New York, 1869 3.00

Notwithstanding the air of mocking raillery with which this author envelopes most of the scenes he describes, his work has one great value, as it is a truthful portraiture of the terrors which attend border life in Arizona, where one twentieth part of the population had been swept away by the incursions of the Apaches in three years.

"The Adventures of Daniel Boone" having been versified by Lord Byron, the "Mountain Muse" essays the task through seven thousand lines, in which he beats the aristocratic poet by more than six thousand nine hundred and fifty.

"Une troisieme partie de ces lettres n'a point ete traduite."—Biog. Univ. The author, an Italian nobleman, of extensive reading, but without the personal experience acquired by travel, undertook the defence of the true Americans, against the aspersions of De Pauw. The Count meets all of the indictments of De Pauw in detail by comparing the Aborigines, the animals, the natural divisions of land and water, the forests and plants and fruits, with the corresponding Inhabitants and objects of nature of the Eastern hemisphere. While De Pauw charges the Mexicans and Peruvians with ferocity and barbarism of manners, particularly in the human sacrifices of the former, the learned Count, calls his attention to the sanguinary worship of the Greeks and Scythians. He recalls to the memory of the author of Recherches des Philosophique, the learning and science of the Peruvians and Mexicans as exhibited by their knowledge of Astronomy. When De Pauw recites from Herrera that the caciques of some Indian nations deflowered all the virgins of their tribes before permitting them to marry, the Count reminds him of the primal noctes of the French seignieurs, and the Romans. Where the first charges the Indians with Phallic worship, Carli, recalls the obscene rites of Isis, and Ceres. He finds evidences of the ceremonies of baptism, circumcision and communion of bread and wine; but he accounts for the prevalence of these customs by reviving the absurd theory of the subsidence of the land once filling the ocean between Africa and America; whose fancied inhabitants were styled the Atlantides. The translation into French was made by M. Lefebure de Villebrune.

276 CARTIER. Prima Relatione di Jacques Cartier della Terre Nuova detta nuova Francia, trouata nell' anno M.D.XXXIIII. Leaves 435 to 440 of Ramusio. Vol. III. Venetia, 1565 .50

The first relation of Jacques Cartier of the New World called New France, discovered in the year 1533.

277 CARTIER (J.). Bref recit et succinte narrative de la navigation faite en MDXXXV et MDXXXVI, par le Capitaine Jacques Cartier aux iles de Canada, Hochelaga, Saguenay et autres. Reimpression figuree de l'edition originale rarissime de MDXLV avec les variantes des manuscrits de la bibliotheque imperiale. Precede d'une breve et succinte introduction historique. Par M. d'Avezac. 12°, half mor., uncut. 3.25
Paris, Librairie Tross, 1863

This relation of Cartier's first voyage, was preserved solely by Ramusio's translation into Italian. No copy of the first edition is known to exist. So rare had it become fifty years later subsequent to its issue, that the French publisher of the second edition, found himself compelled to retranslate it from the Italian. The title of this edition was changed to Discours du Voyage fait par le Capitaine Jacques Cartier aux terres neuves de Canadas, Noremberque, Hochelage, Labrador, et pays adjacens, dite Nouvelle France, avec particulieres moeurs, langage and ceremonies des habitans d'icelle. Rouen en 1598. Small 8°, 64 pp. Of this second edition of the first voyage only copies are known to exist. Of the narrative of Cartier's second voyage, printed in Paris, 1545, but a single copy is known. It is the only relation of Cartier which has come down to us in the original French, and so completely unknown had it remained until recently, that Ternaux Compans declared it untraceable, and printed his edition from one of the three MSS. preserved in the Bibliotheque Imperiale. The fragments of his third voyage were only preserved by Hakluyt's transcripts.

278 CARTIER. Folio, leaves 441 to 453, of Ramusio, Vol. III. Venetia, 1554 .63

A Brief Narrative of the navigation made to the islands of Canada, Hochelaga, Saguenay, and others, and particularly of the manners, language, and ceremonies of their inhabitants, by Jacques Cartier. Folio 447 is a folded plan of Hochelaga, with sections of the fortifications and figures of the native Indians.

[Voyages made in New France called Canada, by the Sieur Champlain, Captain of the Marine for the King, and (Accounts) of all the discoveries which he made in that Country from 1603 to 1629, in which it will be seen that this Country was first discovered by the French, etc. Together with a Map, and a Catechism or Book of Instruction, translated from the French into the language of the Sauvages, the people of that Country, with a Narration of all which transpired in New France to the year 1631.] An imperfect fac simile of the large map made for Mr. Tross is usually substituted for the rare original. This is the only complete edition of Champlain's Voyages. The first part of the volume is an almost literal reproduction of all the other voyages, excepting some minuter relations of the same events in the edition of 1613, with most of the plates printed in the text, instead of on separate sheets. The second part is wholly new matter; being a relation of what transpired in New France from 1619, the date of his latest work, to 1632. The great map is also printed here for the first time. For a further account of this very rare book, see Sabin's Dictionary, No. 11839; Field's Essay, No. 268.

3.50 de la Nouvelle France avec Le Journal Historique d'un Voyage fait par ordre du Roi dans l'Amerique Septentrionale. Par le P. De Charlevoix de la Compagnie de Jesus. 4°, calf, pp. xiv.
A Paris, Chez Nyon Fils Libraire, Quai des Augustins a l'
3 Vols. Occasion, M,DCC,XLIV

[General History and Description of New France, with the Historical Journal of a Tour made by order of the King in North America.] The extraordinary man who was the author of these volumes left no subject relating to the history of the affairs of his wonderful order in America untouched, and as the missions of the Company of Jesus among the Indians were the principal purpose of the fathers in both of the Americas, the curiosity of Charlevoix permeated every accessible square mile of their surface to learn the habits, the customs, and the secrets of the life of the strange people his brethren sought to subdue to the influence of the cross. Father Charlevoix accomplished results in his investigations which seem marvelous to us in the vast accumulation of facts which his pen has illustrated. Of his numerous works, the Nouvelle France is the greatest achievement. Concerning the various editions see Sabin's Dictionary, No. 12135.

331 CHARLEVOIX. History and General Description of New France. By the Rev. P. F. X. de Charlevoix, S. J. Translated, with Notes, by John Gilmary Shea. 6 vols., imperial 8°, cloth, uncut. New York: John Gilmary Shea, 1866–72 5.00

The accurate scholarship, and the fastidious taste of Dr. Shea, are sufficient guarantees that the work is a faithful translation, in graceful English, of Father Charlevoix's great work.

332 CHARLEVOIX. Journal of a Voyage to North-America. Undertaken by Order of the French King. Containing The Geographical Description and Natural History of that Country, particularly Canada. Together with An Account of the Customs, Characters, Religion, Manners, and Traditions of the original Inhabitants. In a Series of Letters to the Dutchess of Lesdiguierres. Translated from the French of P. de Charlevoix. 2 vols., 8°, pp. 382. Map. London, M DCC LXI 2.50

A translation of the third volume of the Histoire de la Nouvelle France. Another and an entirely independent translation of Charlevoix's work, was printed in 1763, entitled Letters to the Duchess of Lesdiguierres. The accounts of the Indians of Canada, as written by this eminent historian, are among the most authentic.

333 CHARLEVOIX. The History of Paraguay. Containing, Amongst the many other New, Curious, and Interesting Particulars of that Country, a Full and Authentic Account of the Establishments formed there by the Jesuits, from among the Savage Natives, in the very Centre of Barbarism; Establishments allowed to have realized the Sublime Ideas of Fenelon, Sir Thomas More, and Plato. Written originally in French, by the celebrated Father Charlevoix. 2 vols., 8°, calf. London, M DCC LXIX 2.00

334 CHASE (G. W.). The History of Haverhill, Massachusetts. From its First Settlement in 1640, to the Year 1860. ... 8°, maps and plates. Haverhill, the Author, 1861 2.75

Includes a Narration of the Indian troubles from 1688 to 1720. Derived partly from printed histories and partly from tradition, and but slightly from documents not hitherto known.

335 CHASTELLUX (Francis Jean). Travels in North America, 2.75 in the years 1780, 1781 and 1782 ... By the Marquis de Chastellux ... With notes by the Translator [J. Kent]. 2 vols., 8°, calf. London, M D CCC LXXXVII

Concerning this see Tuckerman's America, and Sabin's Dictionary, No. 12230.

336 CHATEAUBRIAND (François August). Travels in America 1.12 and Italy. By Viscount de Chateaubriand. 2 vols., 8°, boards, uncut. London, 1828

The relation of the history and customs of the Aborigines, or an examination of their antiquities, occupies much of the work.

See also Sabin's Dictionary, No. 15209, and Field's Essay, No. 355. The author's name was —— Barton. The sanguinary wretches of Pennsylvania, who have been pilloried before the world under the title of "Paxton-Men," thought it necessary to print their defense against the charges of monstrous cruelty and cowardice, made by Franklin in his Massacres of Indians at Lancaster. These fastidious murderers slaughtered a number of inoffensive Christian Indians, out of revenge for the outrages committed by their savage brethren, whom these cowardly frontiersmen feared to encounter. This tract is their attempted exculpation, but it has hitherto only monumented their own infamy.

History and Travels in the West Indies, and many other Maritime Regions. Relates to the savages of the West Indies their method of navigation and warfare; their ceremonies, dwellings, weapons, food, wine, and hunting. The work affords some particulars of interest concerning the now extinct Caribs, recorded at an early day in the history of the country. It contains also some relations of Canada.

449 CORTES (H.) The Fifth Letter of Hernan Cortes to the Emperor Charles V, containing an Account of his Expedition to ..... Translated from the Original Spanish by Don Pascual de Gayangos. ... 8°, cloth. 3.38
London: printed for the Hakluyt Society, MDCCCLXVIII

The first and fifth relations of his conquests by Cortes, were not known to exist until late in the eighteenth century. They were not printed in any language until 1844, when they appeared in the collection of Navarette. The second third and fourth letters had been translated by Ned Folsom and printed-i i 1843. This Relacion in common with all of the Conquiscador's narratives is filled with the incidents of his battle with the Indians, descriptions of their towns and principal chiefs, and the minutest details of their peculiarities, for which he well knew the appetite of the Emperor was insatiable.

460 CRAIG (N. B.). The Olden Time; A Monthly Publication, devoted to the preservation of Documents and other Authentic Information in relation to the Early Explorations, and the Settlement and Improvement of the Country around the head of the Ohio. Edited by Neville B. Craig, Esq. 2 vols., 8° half calf. pp. viii, 576; iv, 572+ map and plate. Pittsburgh, printed by Dumas & Co., 1846 14.00

This excellent work is often incomplete in the second volume, of which the last signature is frequently wanting, few copies of that sheet having left the press when it was attached by the sheriff for debts due by its editor or printer. It is filled with materials for Indian history gathered from original sources. The book, in consequence both of its intrinsic value and the perversity of its fortune while the last sheet was printing, has become exceedingly difficult to procure.

The History of Greenland; containing a Description of the Country, and its inhabitants; and particularly, A Relation of the Mission, carried on for above these Thirty Years by the Unitas Fratrum, at New Hernheim and Lichtenfels, in that Country. By David Crantz. Translated from the High-Dutch, and illustrated with Maps and other Copperplates. 8o, 2 vols., half-calf, 405 pp., 2 maps, 5 plates. London, MDCCLXVII. 2.25

The first English edition is vastly superior to that of 1820, which is not only an abridged, but an interpolated edition. The minute journal of the noble Moravian Brethren, gives us in their own language the phases of Aboriginal life and peculiarites which daily presented themselves. No tribe of American savages has been more closely or intelligently studied.

463 CRANTZ. The History of Greenland: Including An Account of the Mission Carried on by the United Brethren in that Country. From the German of David Crantz. Tour through Upper Pennsylvania and in the State of New York, by an adopted Member of the Oneida Tribe. Translated and published by the author of Letters of an American Cultivator. The author was a gentleman of Normandy who passed twenty-four years of his life in North America. His work contains some curious details on the state of the aborigines, before the arrival of Europeans in that part of North America which he visited. It is announced on the title-page as a simple translation, but it is well known to be the work of Crevecœur, and is to be regarded probably as a continuation of his Letters.

The principal value which attaches to this scarce book, is comprised in the narrative of the captivity of Le Raye. His Journal of personal experience among the fierce Sioux has much more than the usual modicum of real merit, to which such relations are entitled, as it is the result of the observations, regarding the habits of this nomad nation, of a man of some intelligence. Le Raye's Journal was never published in any other form. Plates include the earliest engraving of Cincinnati.

The whole written and compiled from Original and Authentic Documents, furnished by many of the most respectable Characters in the United States. By Moses Dawson. 8°, pp. viii, 464 (8). Errata page.

Cincinnati, M. Dawson, 1824

One of the most thorough, complete, and authentic treatises, relating to the Border Wars of the West, ever printed. The fine portraiture of the aboriginal character, the narration of the minutest incidents of camp, treaty, and war, and the style of simple candor adopted by a scholarly mind, all commend the narrative to our judgment, and attract our interest in its progress.

DeBRY'S COLLECTION OF VOYAGES.

504* DeBry. Collectiones Peregrinationes in Indian Occidentalem xiii. Partibus comprehensas a Theodoro, Joan, Theodoro de Bry et a Matheo Merian publicatæ. 13 vols., folio, half morocco in 12. Francoferte ad Mœnum, 1590–1634

$54.00 per Vol.

This splendid Series of Voyages is the grand piece de resistance of this Library. It was purchased by the editor of this Catalogue at the Sale of the Library of the late Baron de Sobolewski of Moscow, Russia, in 1873. Since that period Mr. Field has supplied some of the deficiencies in the set and now it lacks only two leaves of letter press in part xiii. to be absolutely perfect. Mr. Field has also supplied many plates in duplicate in addition to those already provided by the industry of M. de Sobolewski, and the set now offered is altogether the finest ever sold in the United States. Some of our readers may not be aware of the fact that M. de Sobolewski had made the completion of DeBry's Voyages the main bibliographical feature of a long life devoted to such pursuits. M. Brunet in his "Manuel du Librarie" pays special compliments to this distinguished savant and many American collectors can readily attest to the difficulty of gathering these voyages the publication of which occupied nearly fifty years.— Father, son, grandson having successively undertaken their publication, and concerning this thirteenth part we are able to say that a very eminent, enthusiastic and determined book collector in Brooklyn has for over twenty-five years been vainly seeking to secure this thirteenth part which is included in this collection. We may add that this series is entirely composed of the first editions in which the plates are the most brilliant, and for the information of the buyer we translate from M. de Sobolewski's Catalogue the description of the various volumes which comprise this set, and we add a graphic account of the series from the pen of Mr. Henry Stevens of London, whose acquaintance with DeBry, is perhaps only equalled by that of one other gentleman, whose extensive collections in this department are unrivalled, we refer to Mr. James Lenox of this city. If further information is sought we refer to Sabin's Dictionary Vol. III.

Messrs. Liste and Francke who sold M. Sobolewski's Library thus describe the set:

Part I. 1590. The first edition, as described by Brunet, with all the plates, and besides plates III, IV, V, VI, VII, VIII, IX and XXII in duplicate with the differences cited by Brunet. "The Eleuchus reprinted by DeBure in 10 leaves is added.

Part II. 1591. The subscription will be found printed on a separate leaf, which is placed at the end of the 42 plates. At the end are added four leaves from the second edition, presenting some variations.

Part III. 1592. The engraved title of the 2d edition with the name of J. de Bry substituted for that of Feyrabrud. The plate of the seven shields is without the virtues. The engraved frontispiece "Navigatia in Brasilian" of the second edition with the name of J. DeBry. Page 114 with the plate of Adam and Eve. In other particulars corresponding to Brunet's description. Some of the engravings spotted.

Part IV. 1594. The title in duplicate, with variations with and without privilege. A double set of the 24 plates, which although they have figures on the plates are of the first edition, as may be seen by the explanation below.

Part V. 1595. Texte 72 pages which according to Brune, is a part of the second edition, but according to Camus and Debure belongs to the first.

Parts VI. 1596. The frontispiece which precedes the engravings has the title plate bearing the words: Sequunter Icones, etc." According to Brunet.

Parts VII and VIII. 1599. According to Brunet. Pages 77, 78, of the first half of the 8th part in duplicate, with and without the map.

Part IX. 1602. According to Brunet.

Part X. 1619. To the map of the Phillipines by de Bry there has been added the original map from which it has been copied. It is taken from the Mirrour de Spilberg.

Part XI. 1619. Cum appendice 1620. According to Brunet.

Part XII. 1624. With the map "America Noviss Orbis, etc. 1596." Leaves 1 to 8 and 114, 115 slightly damaged at the top. Leaves 113, 116, 126, 127, 151 and 152 are wanting. The verso of folio 131 and the recto of folio 134 are blank.

Part XIII. 1634. According to Brunet, with the 9 maps and engravings. The thirteen parts are bound in twelve vols., in excellent condition, excepting the trifling defects indicated.

Mr. Henry Stevens in his Bibliotheca Historica remarks concerning DeBry. "It has become the fashion within the last few years for bibliographers, especially those who have got beyond their depth, to depreciate and decry the great collection of voyages of the DeBrys. They charge that these famous engravers had not a due regard for historic truth, and drew upon their imaginations for most of their fine pictures of men, animals, and things in foreign countries. The accounts of Virginia and Florida, being parts 1 and 2 of the American Collection, are said to be overdrawn, mere fancy sketches, and therefore calculated only to mislead the truth-loving historian. These charges are based solely on negative testimony, that is, they say, that none of the original paintings used by the DeBrys are known to exist, and the engravings have the appearance of German manufacture. Now it has been the good fortune of the writer, in his bibliographical mousings up and down the world, to light upon the original paintings which DeBry used for his Virginia and part of his Florida, and to turn up other facts which, all put together, not only clear the DeBrys of the charge of disregard of truth, but go far toward establishing their great Collections as trustworthy, and as honestly put forth by them. If the Voyagers exaggerated their own accounts, it was not the fault of the DeBrys. A synopsis of the story may perhaps as well be recorded here as anywhere, and may be brought back to the anvil, rehammered and worked up with authorities hereafter. It is well known that, after the failure of the Huguenot attempts to make settlements in Florida under Ribault and Laudonnière in 1562–1566, the artist of the latter expedition — one of the very few who escaped the terrible massacre by Menendez — Le Moine by name, retired to London, resided in the Blackfriars, and subsequently became a "servant to Sir Walter Raleigh." Raleigh had known Hakluyt and his studies in Cosmography, while student at Oxford, and subsequently in London, while interested in the expeditions of Frobisher, Gilbert, and others, had intercourse with the author of Diverse Voyages. Again, somewhat later, after finishing his little matters in Flanders, Raleigh found himself in Paris, and there was Hakluyt again, nominally Chaplain to the English Embassy under Sir E. Stafford, but really hunting historical and geographical material for a greater work on the voyages of his countrymen among the outside barbarians. Here in 1584 Hakluyt finished for Raleigh an elaborate geographical treatise, designed to induce Elizabeth to grant to Raleigh and his friends a liberal charter for discovery and plantation in a more southern latitude than had before been attempted by the English. They pitched upon the territory just north of that which they found described in Laudonnière's Journal, which Hakluyt had secured, and which was pictured in the maps and drawings of Le Moine. A reconnoitering expedition had been sent out by Raleigh in 1584 under the command of Amidas and Barlow, which returned in September. The results of this voyage, and Hakluyt's Paper (63 closely-written large folio pages), entitled "A particular discourse concerning the greate necessitie and manifold comodyties that are like to grow to this Realme of Englande by the westerne discoveries lately attempted, written in the yere 1584, by Richarde Hakluyt . . . at the requeste of Mr. Walter Raleigh before the coming home of his two Barkes" [from the north of Florida] etc., secured from the Queen the desired Charter for six years and no more, that is, to make discoveries and found plantations up to 1590, when the Charter expired by limitation. While in Paris, Hakluyt induced his friend Basanier to edit Laudonnière's Journal, and publish it under the patronage of Raleigh, while he himself, under the same patronage, brought out his excellent edition of Peter Martyr's Eight Decades, with the best map by F. G., of the new hemisphere that had been compiled up to that time. Basanier's book appeared in 1586, and Hakluyt's in 1587. Laudonnière's Journal fell into the hands of Theodore DeBry, an enterprising engraver at Frankfort, formerly of Liège. One of the ten or a dozen who escaped the massacre in Florida was a young man named DeBry, probably a relative of the engraver. At all events the engraver took a deep interest in the work, and in 1587 went to London to see Le Moine in the Blackfriars, with a view of obtaining some of his paintings, to enable him to reproduce Loudonnière's Journal with illustrations. But being at the time in Raleigh's service, Le Moine was either unable or unwilling to give De Bry all he wanted. But Le Moine dying the next year, De Bry returned to London in 1588, and succeeded in buying of the widow the rest of the Florida collection. But while there he fell in with Hakluyt, who was then engaged in bringing out his first folio Collection of Voyages. Hakluyt informed De Bry of the recent Virginia Expeditions under Raleigh's Charter, and suggested that, instead of bringing out his Florida as a separate book, he had better take the new book of Master Thomas Hariot, just out of the press, and illustrate it from the portfolio of John White, the artist sent out by Queen Elizabeth as chief Draughtsman in the expedition of 1585, who had recently returned, dedicate the work to Raleigh, and so begin a grand illustrated collection of voyages, the Virginia being the first part, the Florida to be held back to form the second part. Hariot, White, Raleigh, and De Bry all fell into this arrangement, and Hakluyt agreed to write the descriptions of White's maps and pictures. DeBry thus having filled his portfolios with copies of White's works and the originals of the late Le Moine's paintings, returned to Frankfort, and, with incredible enterprise and perseverance, brought out his Virginia in 1590, and the Florida in 1591, the latter as the Second Part of a Collection of Voyages. The Florida by this arrangement had been enlarged by additional pieces and plates. From this brief statement it will be perceived that thus far DeBry's Collection is perfectly authentic, and in its origin is essentially English. In another place we think it will not be difficult to show that he was alike painstaking and straightforward in the materials of all the other parts of both his America and India, and hence it must follow that the Collections are as deserving of confidence as the original Voyages from which they are reprinted, translated, and edited."

A translation of the preceding, made by the daughter of Robert Southey, the poet. Dobrizhoeffer, was one of those extraordinary men, who organized in Paraguay a government that has not ceased to excite the wonder and perplex the reason of all who tried to comprehend its strange anomalies. For a century and a half it existed as a pure hierarchy, insulated and intact; more mysterious than the fabled Amazonian Republic, or the equally mythical El Dorado. For a half century succeeding it has remained the only example of a people, professing to be free, existing under a tyranny supported solely by themselves.

547 DOMENECH (E.). Manuscript pictographique Américain précédé d' une notice sur l' idéographie des Peaux-Rouges, par l' Abbé Em. Domenech missionaire ... Ouvrage publié sous les auspices de M. le ministre d'etat et de la maison de l'empereur. 8°, half morocco, pp. viii, 119, 228 plates. 6.00
Paris, Gide, 1860

This unhappy work afforded a sensation to the literary world of Europe, not less unusual than universal. From every study, library, and bookseller's rooms arose a shout of laughter, that the soul of Rabelais might have envied. No Frenchman, since that ribald wit left the earth, has excited such a chorus of unextinguishable cachinnation. Unfortunately for the Abbe Domenech the parallel between himself and Rabelais soon ceases, the world laughs not with him but at him.

He has been the victim of an imposture so rank, that we should wonder not less than we admire his self delusion, if he had not dragged so many considerable people into the same net. See Field's Essay and Sabin's Dictionary No. 20550.

548 DOMENECH. La vérité sur le livre des sauvages, par l'Abbé Em. Domenech...8°, printed, pp. 54+10, plates. Paris, 1861

597 EASTON (J.). A | Narrative | Of the Causes which led to | Philip's Indian War, | of 1675 and 1676. | By John Easton, of Rhode Island, | With other Documents concerning this | Event in the office of the Secretary of | State of New York. | Prepared from the originals, with an | Introduction and Notes. | By Franklin B. Hough. | 4°, half roan, by Bradstreet.
Albany, N. Y. | J. Munsell, 1858

One hundred copies only printed. The author was a Quaker residing in Ipswich and Hampton, who was driven, by the intolerance of the Puritans, to Rhode Island in 1638. He suffered in person from the incursions of the Indians, who burned his house at Newport the next year. Easton is the only early writer upon the wars of the New Englanders with the Indians who ventures to doubt that the Almighty was on the side of the slaughtering Puritans; and Satan himself commanding the savages.

598 EATON (C.). Annals of the Town of Warren; with the Early History of St. George's Broad Bay, and the Neighboring Settlements on the Waldo Patent. 8°, cloth. Hallowell, 1851

614 EGEDE (H.). A Description of Greenland. By Hans Egede, who was a Missionary in that Country for Twenty-five Years. A New Edition, with an Historical Introduction and a Life of the Author. 8°, half calf. Map. London, 1818

Chapters vii, to xx., pp. 100 to 225, are devoted to descriptions of the occupations, implements, habitations, persons, customs, habits, mourning, pastimes, etc., of the natives of Greenland. In chapter xv, is given a specimen of one of their songs in the Esquimaux language with the parallel passages in English, occupying four pages. Chapter xvi, treats of the principles of that tongue with a vocabulary and grammatical analysis of twelve pages. Although the quaint relation of the Danish missionary Egede affords us little information regarding the natives of Greenland which has not often been printed, yet his narratives of incidents among them, and descriptions of their characteristics at that early day (1721), are valuable as historical records.

615 ELDREDGE. Memoirs of Eleanor Eldridge. 2 vols., Square 16°, half morocco, pp. 128 and 128.
Providence, B. T. Albro, printer, 1841

The subject of this narrative was the granddaughter of a Narragansett Indian squaw and an African chief, and is interesting ethnologically, as portraying the characteristics of two aboriginal races blended.

New York, 1853

616 ELLET (Mrs.). Pioneer Women of the West. By Mrs. Ellet. 12°, cloth, pp. 434 + Plate. New York: Charles Scribner, 1852

Of the sixty pioneer women whose biographies appear in this volume, nearly all obtained the celebrity which gives them a place in it, on the frontier, in conflict with the Indians. Much the largest portion of the book is therefore occupied with the details of female heroism, or sufferings from Indian wars or barbarity. The work owes little to other printed books; its material having been collected by the author from original sources, which were either documents, the personal narrations of actors or their friends.

617 ELLIOT'S Indian Bible. Second Edition. 4°. Lond., 1680

Wants beginning and end, and otherwise imperfect.

000 ELIOT TRACTS. The Following together with the Items described under the name of the respective authors compose almost a complete series of the various tracts issued by the "Corporation for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Indians," etc., all of them are scarce but some are of extreme rarity.

The complete series consists of eleven, and is probably, next to the Jesuit Relations, the most difficult to reassemble in good copies, of any works relating to American History. Some of these Protestant relations of missions among the Indians, bring almost fabulous prices. One hundred and seventy dollars has been paid for that of 1659 (No. 9), and one hundred dollars was paid both by Mr. Menzies and myself for that of 1671. They are doubtless all written by the hand, or from material furnished by the writings of John Eliot. No series of works relating to American history are more sought for; and the collector who possesses a large part of either the Catholic or Protestant Relations of Missions, while he has something to boast of, has still a long period of expectancy to keep alive his interest, before he will complete either one of them."— Field.

618 ELIOT (John). The | Day-Breaking | if not | The Sun-Rising | of the | Gospel | With the | Indians in New England. | Zach. 4, 10 | [motto 5 lines]. 4°, levant morocco, by W. Mathews. pp. 1, 2, 25. 30.00

622 ELIOT (J.). A Further Account of the progress | of the | Gospel | Amongst the Indians | In New-England: | Being | A Relation of the Confessions made | by several Indians (in the pre- | sence of the Elders and Mem- | bers of several Churches) in or- | der to their admission into | Church-fellowship. | Sent over to the Corporation for Propagating the Gospel of | Jesus Christ amongst the Indians in New England at Lon- | don, by Mr. John Elliot one of the Laborers in the Word | amongst them. | 4°, pp. (10) 76, levant morocco, by W. Mathews.

London, | Printed by John Macock, 1660

Forms No. X and is one of the rarest of the series. From page 37 to 76 is occupied with the Confessions of Seven Indians, each given at length under his own name. The ratiocination involved in these religious testimonies, as the production of aboriginal intellects, so lately incapable of numbering fifty seems incredible to us. Mr. Pierson, the interpreter, must have given their stories a very liberal and forced translation.

623 ELIOT. A Brief | Narrative | of the | Progress of the Gospel amongst | the Indians in New England, in | the Year 1670. | Given in | By the Reverend Mr. John Elliot, | Minister of the Gospel there, | In a Letter by him directed to | the Right Worshipfull the Com- | missioners under his Majesties | Great Seal for Propagation of the | Gospel amongst the poor blind Na- | tives in these United Colonies. 4to, pp. 11.

639 E[NGEL] (E. B. d'). Essai sur cette question; quand et comment l'Amerique a-t-elle éte peuplée, d'hommes et d'animaux? par E. B. d' E[ngel]. 2 vols., 12°, calf. Amsterdam, Marc. Michel Rey, M DCC LXVII

640 E[NGEL] (E. B. d'). [Another Edition.] 4°, calf. Amsterdam, 1767

[Essay on this question: When and how has America been peopled with men and animals?] D'Engel, with great sounding of trumpets, that he is about to propound a theory of the population of America both novel and impregnable, asserts that it was antediluvian in its origin. He berates Grotius, DeLaet, and Hornius in detail, but he groups Acosta, Lescarbot, Brerewood, and Moraes with "plusiers ecrivains," and dismisses them altogether with contempt.

642 ERES (C. D. R. d'). Memoirs of Charles Denis Rusoe d'Eres, A Native of Canada, Who was with the Scanyawtauragahrooote Indians eleven years, with a particular account of his Sufferings, &c. Small 12°. Exeter, 1800

If there ever existed a tribe of savages who were recognized by such a title, it was sufficient warrant for their extermination; and judged by this rule the author himself had but little advantage. He terminates his narrative by marriage with a maiden of Spencer in New Hampshire, where he fixed his habitation in 1794. Whether the author was ever a captive to any savage tribe is somewhat uncertain; his narrative is at all events little better than a fiction. It is one of the rarest of books relating to the aborigines.

646 EVANS (E.) A Pedestrious Tour, of Four Thousand Miles through the Western States and Territories. 12°, boards, uncut. Concord, N. H., 1819 1.50

The slight value which attaches to this book is entirely in a few pages in which the author describes his visits to some western tribes of Indians.

647 EVANS (John). Reply of Governor Evans, of the Territory of Colorado. To that part referring to him of "the Report of the Conduct of the War," headed "Massacre of Cheyenne Indians" 8°, pp. 16, 41, 1. Denver, Colorado Territory, 1865 .50

Although, not in the immediate command of the murdering horde under Colonel Chivington, who perpetrated the frightful atrocities narrated under the title of "Condition of the Indian Tribes," yet he organized the force, and is charged with having given the instruction to Colonel Chivington, which has made his name infamous.

648 EVANS (J.) A Journal of the Life, Travels, and Religious Labours of William Savery, late of Philadelphia, a Minister of the Gospel of Christ, in the Society of Friends, Compiled from his Original Memoranda. By Jonathan Evans. 12°. London, 1844 13.00

Savery was associated with John Heckwelder and the agents of the government, in a mission to the Indians of Ohio, on the occasion of the meeting of a grand council at Sandusky. It is a narrative of more than ordinary interest and value, as it adds the observations of an intelligent and scrupulous journalist.

656 EQUEMELIN (J.). Bucaniers | of | America: | Or, a True | Account | of the | Most Remarkable Assaults, | Committed of late Years upon the Coasts of | The West-Indies, | By the Bucaniers of Jamaica and Tortuga, | Both English and French. | Wherein are contained more especially, | The unparallel'd Exploits of Sir Henry Morgan, our En- | glish Jamaican Hero, who Sack'd Puerto Velo, burnt Panama &c. | Written originally in Dutch, by John Esquemeling, one of the | Bucaniers, who was present at those Tragedies; and thence | translated into Spanish by Alonso de Bonne-Maison, Doctor of | Physick and Practitioner at Amsterdam. | Now faithfully rendered into English. | 4°, half morocco, pp. (xii.) 115, 152, 124, xi. nine plates.

The first English edition complete in three parts, the text of which is a beautiful specimen of the clear typography of the day, being greatly superior to the following.

657 ESQUEMELING. Bucaniers of America, &c. [Same title]. The Second Edition, Corrected and Inlarged, with two Additional Relations, viz., the one of Captain Cook, and the other of Captain Sharp. Now faithfully rendred into English. Four portraits, six plates. London, 1684

This, although with the same date, is really a different, somewhat later, and generally inferior edition to the first. The only point of superiority consists in the addition of the fourth part. The first three books of the second edition are not unfrequently found unaccompanied by the fourth, and the imperfect work is believed to be complete on account of the finis and the table. The relations of the Buccaneers are full of particulars of the Indians who two centuries since inhabited the islands and the main of the Caribbean Sea. The fierce French and English marauders who so constantly overcame the Spaniards, were as constantly checked or defeated whenever they assailed the Indians of the Isthmus or the adjacent countries. But the most noteworthy historical fact elucidated by this volume, is the proof of the retributive fruit of vengeance forever produced from the vile seeds of cruelty. The Spaniard, who for a century and a half had devastated the countries of the Indians, with cruelties born of hell, was now to become the prey of fiends as ferocious and vindictive but more powerful than himself.

669 FARMER (T.). Collections, Topographical, Historical, and
2.25 Biographical, relating principally to New Hampshire. Edited by J. Farmer and J. B. Moore. 3 vols., 8°, boards, uncut. 1822

The first subject announced as the purpose of these volumes in the Preface, is certainly well sustained by their contents, "Historical Sketches of Indian Wars, Battles, and Exploits; of the adventures and sufferings of the Captives." The work is in fact a copious cyclopædia of Indian history; narratives of captivities in their original style without abridgment; descriptions of Indian antiquities, with memoirs and anecdotes of Indian chiefs, and border fighters of the whites.

670 FARNHAM (T. J.). Life and Adventures in California and Scenes in the Pacific Ocean. 8°. New York, 1847 .50

728 FOUR Kings of Canada. Portraits, No. 1, of The River Sachem or Te-Yee-Neen-Ho-Ga-Prow — II. Saga-Yean Qua-Prah-Ton — III. Elow-Oh-Kaom — IV. of Oh-Nee-Yeath-Ton-No-Prow.

These portraits were engraved at the period of the visit of the chiefs of the tribes on the northern shores of Lakes Ontario and Erie, to England. They are very rarely found together, and form when complete an interesting memorial of the tribes which have long since disappeared.

729 FOUR Kings of Canada, The. Being | A Succinct Account of the | Four Indian Princes lately arriv'd | from North America | With | A particular Description of their Country | their strange and remarkable Religion, Feasts, | Marriages, Burials, Remedies for their Sick, | Customs, Manners, Constitution, Habits, | Sports, War, Peace, Policy, Hunting, Fish | ing, Utensils belonging to the Savages, with | several other Extraordinary Things worthy | Observation as to the natural or curious | Productions, Beauty, or Fertility of that | Part of the World. | 12°, levant morocco, by Bradstreet, very rare. London, John Baker, 1710 22.00

These Sachems were induced to accompany Colonel Schuyler to England, for the purpose not only of confirming the attachment of the Five Nations to the British interest as opposed to the French, but also to enlist that of the court in colonial affairs. See Smith's History of New Jersey, p. 366, Sabin's Dictionary, No. 25283.

By Captaine Luke Foxe ... 4°, levant morocco, by Bradstreet. London, | Printed by B. Alsop and Thos. Favvcet dwelliny in Grubstreet, | 1635 50.00

The Narratives and Journals of early voyages to the Arctic territories, of which this work consists, are filled with accounts of the ferocity and vindictiveness of the natives, traits of character for which the present Esquimaux inhabitants have never been remarkable. It is evident that the race of aborigines which alarmed the early navigators by their fierce warfare, has long passed away, and the place of the implacable red Indian been occupied by the mild fair-skinned Esquimaux. See Sabin's Dictionary, No. 25410.

25.00 738 FRANKLIN (Benjamin). A Narrative | of the late | Massacres, | in | Lancaster County, | of a | Number of Indians, | Friends of the Province, | By Persons Unknown. | With some Observations on the same. | 8°, pp. 31. Printed in the Year MDCCLXIV. |

Relates the method in which the cowards of the frontiers revenged upon innocent and helpless old men, and young children, the outrages of Indian warriors whom they dared not meet. The inhuman slaughter of Christian men and women with their babes, by the mob of Scotch and Irish frontier settlers, is the most horrible picture of human phrensy this continent ever saw. The pamphlet is among the rarest of works relating to the history of Pennsylvania See Sabin's Dictionary, No. 25557.

749 FRENCH (B. F.). Historical Collections of Louisiana, embracing many rare and valuable documents relating to the Natural, Civil and Political History of that State, compiled with Historical and Biographical Notes, and an Introduction, By B. F. French. Six vols., 8°. New York, 1846–69 1.50

This collection is remarkable for the immense amount of material relating to the aborigines of America, being almost wholly composed of memoirs and narratives, in the language of the original explorers. Contains, La Salle's memoir, Joutel's Journal of Mississippi, and Hennepin's account of Mississippi. Marquette and Joliet's voyage, De Soto's expedition, and Coxe's "Carolana." La Harpe's establishment of the French in Louisiana, Charlevoix's journal — Account of the Natchez Indians; massacre of the French by the Natchez. Narratives of the voyages, missions, and travels among the Indians, of Marquette, Joliett, Dablon, Allouez, Le Clercq, La Salle, Hennepin, Membre and Douay, by J. G. Shea. Dumont's memoir of transactions with the Indians of Louisiana. 751 FREZIER (Amedée François). A Voyage to the South-Sea, And Along the Coasts of Chili and Peru, in the Years 1712, 2.25 1713, and 1714. Particularly describing The Genius and Constitution of the Inhabitants, as well Indians as Spaniards: Their Customs and Manners; their Natural History, Mines, Commodities, Traffick with Evrope, &c., with 37 Copper-Cutts. 4°, calf. London, 1717

The relation of M. Frezier has always been highly esteemed from his character as an author of great truthfulness, as well as for the numerous exact maps with which it is illustrated. Many curious particulars which he observed of the aborigines of the countries in South America that he visited are given. M. Frezier was among the earliest to describe the use of the quipu, or knotted cord diary of the Peruvian Indians.

Fourteen chapters of this volume occupying 320 pages are entirely devoted to the history of the aborigines of the West. The chapter titles sufficiently indicate the scope of the work. The Mound-Builders, Pontiac War, Catholic and Protestant Missions. The Illinois Confederacy. The Winebago Confederacy. The Sioux Confederacy. The Chippaway Confederacy. The material of this work has been carefully collected, and affords very minute and accurate information regarding the western tribes of Indiana.

This translation into French contains Garcilaso de la Vega's two works, The Incas of Peru, and the Conquest of Florida, and Hennepin's Discovery of a Country greater than Europe. The engravings are from Picart.

789 GARCILASO DE LA VEGA. The Royal Commentaries of Peru in Two Parts, The First Part Treating of the Original of their Incas or Kings; Of their Idolatry; Of their Laws and Government both in Peace and War; Of the Reigns and Conquests of the Incas; The Second Part Describing the manner by which that new World was conquered by the Spaniards. Also the Civil Wars between the Pizarrists and the Almagrians, occasioned by Quarrels arising about the Division of that Land; Of the Rise and Fall of Rebels, and other Particulars contained in that History. Illustrated with Sculptures. Written originally in Spanish by the Inca Garcillasso De La Vega, and rendered into English by Sir Paul Rycaut K^{t}. Folio, calf. London, 1688

The author was the son of one of the conquerors of Peru, Garcilaso de la Vega, by the daughter of the Inca Huallpa Tupac, and sister of Huayna Capac Inca, the last native monarch of Peru. He was so proud of both paternal and maternal origin, that while he assumed the Spanish name of the first, he was careful to assert his Incarial descent. He was evidently a gentleman of refinement, and possessed of much more learning than was usually acquired by the conquestadors themselves. That one of Indian blood, and a descendant of the proud race of the Incas, should have been the most industrious and careful historian of the evil fortunes of his race, and the chronicler of the victories of their conquerors, may well excite our surprise.

798 GAYARRE (C.). History of Louisiana. The French, and Spanish Domination. 3 vols., 8°. New York: Redfield, 1854 1.50

The history of the French Domination occupies two volumes, and that of the Spanish, one. The first two, are very largely composed of the details of French negotiation, wars, and intercourse with the Indians of that vast territory once known as Louisiana. Gleaned from all sources, except original and unpublished documents, it is yet an interesting and in some respects a valuable naration. It pictures the life of the Aborigines, with all the fidelity which a romantic paraphrase of history can do.

799 GENDRON (Le Sieur). Quelqves Particvlaritez dv pays Des Hvrons en la Nouvelle France Remarquées par le Sieur Gendron, Docteur en Medicine, qui a demeuré dans ce Pays-là fort long-temps. 826 GOOKIN (D.) Historical Collections of the Indians in New 11.00 England. Of their several Nations, Numbers, Customs, Manners, Religion, and Government, before the English planted there. Also a true and faithful account of the present state and condition of the praying Indians, (or those who have visibly received the Gospel in New England:) declaring the number of that people, the situation and place of their Towns and Churches, and their manner of worshipping God,...briefly declaring the prudent and faithful endeavors of the Right Honorable the Corporation of London, for promoting that affair; also suggesting some expedients for their further Civilizing and propagating the Christian Faith among them. By Daniel Gookin. 8°, pp. 89.

Apollo Press: Boston, by Belknap and Hall, MDCCXCII.

This brave magistrate and zealous philanthropist, prepared his historical memoir of the Indians of N. E. for publication in 1674, but it remained in manuscript until 1792. The same popular frenzy against the Indians, which infected all the Colonies at different periods, infuriated the children of the Puritans, a few months after the completion of this memoir. Five hundred Christian Indians, accused most unwarrantably of association with the murders by Pagan tribes, were lodged for safety on Deer Island in Boston harbor, and the populace of Boston raged for their blood, with as vehement savagery as the unsanctified Dutch under Gov. Kieft, or the furibund Scotch Presbyterians of Paxton. Gookin opposed this murderous sentiment with such firmness, that the lives of the prisoners were spared, only however, to endure incredible sufferings, from the rigors of winter, unsheltered and starving.

American Evenings: Government, Pagan and Catholic, with concise and particular notices of all the events of Indian History: followed by a narration of the remarkable and unknown incidents which transpired from the invasion of the Grand Nation of the Toltecs into the land of Anhuac, up to the present time. A work obtained from the conversation of an Indian and a Spaniard. This interesting history of ancient Mexico, written in the form of a dialogue between an Indian and a Spaniard, and divided into seventeen "Nights," is very little known in Europe, and is very rare in Mexico. The author held several important offices in the latter country, among which was the superintendence of the Missions among the Mexican Indians, which even a century before his time had become very important civil as well as religious institutions.

Francoforti ad moenum Typis Ionnis Wecheli, Sumtibvs vero Theodori de Bry Anno CIↃ IↃXC

The illustrations, from plates engraved by Theodore de Bry, are of extraordinary beauty. They are all representations of savage life, principally of the Indians of Virginia, and although more or less imaginative, have been reproduced in a score of works, from Montanus to Lafiteau, and of all sizes from folio to duodecimo. The English edition printed in the same year is extremely rare, having brought one thousand dollars in the Stevens sale at Boston in 1870. It has been reproduced in facsimile by the photo-lithographic process by J. Sabin and Sons, with the following title:

906 HARIOT. A brief and true report of the new found land of Virginia, of the Commodities and of the nature and manners of the Natural Inhabitants. Discouered by the English Colony there seated by Sir Richard Greinvile Knight In the Yeere 1585. To which are added, A concise description of the face of the Country, its Inhabitants, their Manners, Customs, Laws, Religions, etc. 8°, half morocco. Andover, 1820 3.50

This Journal purports to have been only revised and published by Mr. Daniel Haskell, but he is said to have introduced religious reflections not made by the author. Harmon's narration of events among and peculiarities of the Indian tribes is believed by those familiar with him, and the regions he visited, to be correct; but the life of a fur-trader, dispensing fire-water to the Indians, while daily witnessing the murders it produced, was not favorable to religious emotions. Mr. Haskell makes the writer reject the proffer of an Indian concubine by her father, with very proper pious emotions; but Mr. Schoolcraft intimates that the latter were not more consonant with his character than the story of his continence. A copious vocabulary of the Cree or Knistenaw language is given on pp. 385 to 413. The journal of events in his life as an Indian trader, terminates at page 273, and two subdivisions entitled "Account of the Indians living East of the Rocky Mountains," and "Account of the Indians living West of the Rocky Mountains," are evidently written by another hand, perhaps from Harmon's dictation.

Dr. Hawks's plan of writing history is ingenious and peculiar enough to have been of his own invention. He first prints some original document, or reproduces a rare tract, and to it appends his own historical narrative. On pages 100 to 140 he reprints Ralph Lane's Account of Virginia, with the Map of the Indian Towns, and on 190 to 231, The two voyages of John White with the "Map of Indian Localities. Volume II, pp, 388 to 437, are occupied with the documents relating to the war with the Tuscaroras, and pages 507 to 557 with the author's narrative of the events which caused it, and the incidents occurring during its progress.

This work, only less rare than the Aboriginal History contains a large portion of material relating to the border warfare with the Indians, narrated in the last mentioned work. The speculative and antiquarian portions and descriptions of mounds are omitted in this volume, but the story of Indian conflicts and massacres is narrated with greater detail and minuteness, filling much the larger portion of the work. The story of the formation of the State of Franklin, and the civil war which ensued, is a chapter of American history but little known, and scarcely exceeded in interest by any other.

In this book, now exceedingly rare and highly prized, the author has brought together a very large number of curious facts, relating to the origin and character of the natives of his State, prior to the settlement by the whites. He does not favor the hypothesis of great antiquity in the Indian nations of America, and believes in their common origin with the Caucasian race. He describes with great minuteness and care the relics of the race which once inhabited the territory, its utensils, skeletons, crania, and fortifications, most of which he appears to have personally inspected.

The narrative of this mission is a history of the noblest labors of the human race. Heckewelder's narrative is a full and undoubtedly faithful record of all the details of the Mission, its wonderful success and its appalling destruction. He was able to give a thousand particulars from personal experience, and it is at once an interesting story abounding in veritable incidents, and a valuable history, fortified by impregnable facts.

The whole of this noble work is devoted to a history of the relations of the Indians of America to its Spanish invaders; and the effect of their occupation, and conquest upon the population, religion, and manners of the aborigines. The various narratives and histories, which describe the awful destruction of many Indian nations by the Spaniards, are criticised with true philosophical acumen, and the veracity and capability of their authors fairly examined.

This is the first edition of the first part of Hennepin's larger work, which was the next year translated into English, and published under the title, A New Discovery of a Vast Country in America. The work includes the substance of his first book, but more minutely describes the characteristics of the Indian tribes through which he passed. It was very exactly reproduced in English, even to the divisions into chapters and the tables of contents, maps and plates. The preface containing a lengthy narration of his embroglio with Mr. La Salle, his own order, and the French government was very greatly abridged. The second part was not published until the following year.

Chez Antoine Schonton, 1698

Father Hennepin very properly terms this, his third volume; being a relation of subsequent discoveries; of La Salle's assassination; and of the customs of tribes of Indians, unnoticed in his former works. The recent acquisition of these three volumes, enables me to correct impressions obtained from bibliographical notices of Hennepin's works, which governed me when the note to No. 685 was written. This volume is almost perfectly reproduced in the Second Part of the English version, entitled Continuation of the New Discovery. Even the long, rambling preface, is in this instance presented to us unmutilated. All subsequent to p. 184, of the English entitled An Account of Several New Discoveries in N. A., is not to be found in the French editions. This account occupying 44 pp. purports to be from the hand of Hennepin; who perhaps added it at the instance of the English publisher. His first work printed in 1683, and again in 1688; has never been published in English. It formed the basis for the other two, in which all its material was reproduced.

It has been the fashion until late in this age, to deride the work of Father Hennepin, as smacking of the marvelous. Indeed, some of our savants have endeavored to prove that the very excellent Father Recollect never saw any of the wonders he narrates. This severe criticism proceeds from sources which entitle him to the benefit at least of a doubt of its impartiality. First. Father Charlevoix, who cast the first cloud of suspicion, was a missionary priest of the Jesuits, who were at one time under the ban in New France through the influence of the Recollects, to which order Father Hennepin belonged. Second. The author lost the support of his own brethren of the order of Recollects by neglecting or refusing to return to his duties in America as a missionary. Accordingly retired to Utrecht in Holland." Field.

No one has ever disputed the fidelity of old Herrera, styled the Prince of Historians, to the sources of information then accessible, and no one has ever exceeded him in careful research, and interesting narration of aboriginal history. He sought and obtained many of the original documents, which the industry and spirit of the old missionaries and explorers made so numerous and voluminous. He copied, almost bodily, the MS. History of the Indies by Las Casas. Mr. Squier notices that he has transferred almost the entire MS. Relacion of Palacio, to his Fourth Decade. His work is a perfect treasure-house of the most valuble details, regarding the original state of the religion and manners of the Indians.

Dr. Hewatt's work published in the third year of America was evidently written sometime prior to the revolutionary period as it is only in the last chapter that he refers to the colonial claims for independence. A narrative of Sir Alex. Cumming's treaty with that nation, and of the embassy of seven of their chiefs to England is found, in chapter seven.

977 HILL (J.). Trial (at large) of James Hill; otherwise, James Hind; otherwise, James Actzen: for Feloniously, Willfully, and Maliciously, Setting Fire to the Rope-House, in His Majesty's Dock-Yard at Portsmouth. ... March 6, 1777. pp. 40. Extremely rare. London: G. Kearsly, n. d.

Also, a Short Account of the Motives which Determined the Man called John the Painter; and a Justification of his Conduct Written by Himself, and sent to his Friend, M. A. Tomkins, with a Request to publish it after his Execution. 2 vols, Folio, half morocco, gilt top, uncut. Very rare. 14.00

London: Williams, 1777

Important for the History of the American Revolution. The subject of this trial was better known as John the Painter.

978 HIND (H. Y.). Explorations of the Interior of The Labrador Peninsula; the Country of the Montagnais and Nasquapee Indians. By Henry Youle Hind. ... 12 plates, 2 maps, 2 vols., 8°. 3.25

London, Longman, 1863

All that Mr. Hind undertakes, is done so thoroughly that little more could be indicated, to complete the exhaustion of his subject. All the peculiarities of the aboriginal races of Labrador, which a stranger would be permitted to observe, he noted.

979 HIND. Narrative of the Canadian Red River Exploring
3.63 Expedition of 1857 and of the Assinniboine and Saskatchewan Exploring Expedition of 1858. By Henry Youle Hind ... In charge of the Assinniboine and Saskatchewan Expedition. 20 plates, 11 maps, 2 vols., 8°, cloth, uncut.
London: Longmans, 1870

During this exploration, Mr. Hind lived almost constantly among the Crees and Chippeways, whose habits and peculiarities he was most eager to study, and prompt to record. Everything in their life had not only the charm of novelty to him, but as a man of science, he was anxious to observe all the facts which may prove stepping-stones in tracing their origin and their history.

1.63

The Indian legends and stories narrated in these volumes, though tinged with the graceful romance, in which the imagination of the author's genius clothed his writings, are still truthful to the phases of aboriginal life which the author had witnessed.

1002 [HOFFMAN.] A Winter in the West. By a New Yorker. 2 vols., 12°. New York: Harper & Brothers, 1835

The numerous incidents of personal intercourse with Indians of various western tribes, the interesting details which the author's ardent curiosity regarding them drew from persons familiar with their life and habits, and the voluminous notes appended to these volumes, extracted from works not easily accessible, entitle them to a high rank in aboriginal literature.

Philadelphia: Printed and Sold by B. Franklin and D. Hall, MDCCLVII

25.00

Mr. Hopkins's Memoir is one of the rarest of works relating to New England, as it is one of the most intrinsically valuable. This abridgment fails in the last quality by reason of its abbreviation, but is nearly as rare. The last six pages is occupied with a letter of Conrad Weiser, narrating some remarkable incidents of his visit to the Onondagas not elsewhere preserved.

1016 HORN. Georgi Horni de Originibus Americanis. Libri quatuor. Societas Illaesa. 16", vellum, pp. (20) 282. Hagæ Comitis, Sumptibus Adriani Vlacq, CIↃ IↃ CLII. [1652]

This is the celebrated treatise on the Orgin of the Americans, written in answer to Hugo Grotius's De Origine Gentium Americanorum. It provoked an angry rejoinder from the latter, which was answered by a counter-treatise from Laet. All of these essays display a degree of learning and refinement, which we shall look for in vain in later works.

1017 HORN (Mrs.). A Narrative of the Capitivity of Mrs. Horn, and her two Children, with Mrs. Harris; by the Camanche Indians, after they had Murdered their Husbands and travelling Companions; with a brief account of the Manner and Customs of that Nation of Savages, of whom so little is Generally known. 12°, pp. 60. St. Louis, 1839

Boston, printed by John Foster, 1676

Usually found with Hubbard's of which it is believed never to have formed a part, having been printed a year previously.

His narrative seems to have excited the envy of the Rev. Increase Mather, who wrote and published two books on the same subject. This work frequently reprinted will always remain a standard authority. This first edition is a volume of the greatest rarity. Mr. Rice's copy sold for $180. See Field's Essay, No. 431.

1041 HUBBARD. "Plans referred to in the Report from the Select committee on the Hudson's Bay Company." 2.00

An enormous mass of evidence relative to the Hudson's Bay Company; and largely illustrative of their mode of dealing with the Indians.

1048 HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY. Red River Settlement. Folio, pp. 118. 1.50
London, 1849

The running title of this document, more clearly indicates its scope. "Correspondence relative to complaints of the inhabitants of the Red River Settlement." It is a great mass of testimony relative to the treatment of the Indians of that portion of British America by the imperial company who controlled them, and impeaches the servants of that company of horrible cruelty.

Paris, 1810

Every class of Mexican or Aztec, and Peruvian Antiquities, receives in this work the clearest philosophical analysis. Many of the plates are beautifully colored. In this work the Picture-writing of the Mexicans first received the attention and the ample treatment which are due to a literature as strange and important in the records of the New World, as that of Egypt in the Old.

1053 HUMBOLDT. Researches, Concerning the Institutions & Monuments of the Ancient Inhabitants of America, with Descriptions & Views of some of the most Striking Scenes in the Cordilleras. 1103 IVES (J. C.). Report on the Colorado River of the West, Explored in 1857 and 1858 by Lieutenant Joseph C. Ives, Corps and Topographical Engineers, under the direction of the office of explorations and Surveys, A. A. Humphreys, Captain Topographical Engineers, in Charge. 4°. Washington, 1861

The wonders explored by this expedition, and for the first time unveiled to the world, have scarcely yet begun to be credited. The Colorado flowing between perpendicular walls a mile and a quarter in altitude, is not the only development of this exploration which excites our interest. Lieut. Ives was the first to give us the results of an intelligent observer of the celebrated yet almost mythical fortified villages of the Moquis Indians. Enclosing by a wall fifteen to twenty feet high, in which there is no gate or entrance way, they were not more secure from their enemies, than they were secluded and mysterious to the outer world. For more than three centuries their very existence had remained one of the problems of history; but in this volume the author exposes them to the glare of the light of investigation. Ten large colored plates representing dwellings, physiognomy and habits.

This history of the Chichemecas or Ancient Kings of Tezcuco, by Don Fernando d'Alva Ixtlilxochitl; translated from the unedited Spanish MS., forms part of Ternaux's Voyages. Clavigero, himself an authority of the highest rank, speaks of the author as extremely conversant with the antiquities of his nation, and as having written the very learned and valuable works which bear his name, at the request of the viceroy of Mexico.

1111 JACOBS (S. S.). Nonantum and Natick. By Sarah S. Jacobs. Written for the Massachusetts Sabbath School Society, and revised by the Committee of Publication. 12°.
Boston, 1853

A pleasing and truthful historical narrative of the missions of Elliot among the Indians at Natick and Nonantum. The details and incidents are evidently derived from authentic sources; and with the biographical sketches of notable Indian converts, the narratives of their persecutions of Christian Indians by the Puritans, and the table of Indian names and their significations, form a work of no inconsiderable value in Indian history.

1112 JAMES (E.). Account of an Expedition from Pittsburgh to the Rocky Mountains, performed In the Years 1819, 1820. By order of the Hon. J. C. Calhoun, Secretary of War, under the Command of Maj. S. Long, of the U. S. Top. Engineers. Compiled from the Notes of Major Long, Mr. T. Say, and other gentlemen of the party. By Edwin James, Botanist and Geologist to the Expedition. ... 2 maps, 6 plates, 3 vols., 8°. 5.25

In all of Major Long's explorations, the natives of the territories through which he passed received the largest share of his attention. This will be evident from an examination of the table of contents of each volume.

1113 JAMES. A Narrative of the Captivity and Adventures of John Tanner, (U. S. Interpreter at the Saut de Saint Marie), during Thirty Years' Residence among the Indians, in the Interior of North America. Prepared for the Press by Edwin James, M. D. .., Portrait, 8°, half morocco, pp. 426. 3.63

N. Y., G. & C. & H. Carvill, 1830

The editor obtained the material for its construction from the lips of John Tanner, a captive white who had resided among the Indians for thirty years. His relation of his life among the Northern Indians, is probably the most minute if not authentic detail of their habits, modes of living, and social customs, ever printed.

1114 JAMESON (Anna). Winter Sketches and Summer Rambles in Canada. By Mrs. Jameson, in 3 vols.. post 8°, uncut. out

London: Saunders & Otley, Conduit street, 1838

Includes Sketches of Indian Life, personal appearance and Biographical notes of such Indians as she met, and such narrations of their traditions, and religious sentiments, as a woman would be permitted to hear, or report.

Trenton: Printed by Wilson & Blackwell, July 12, 1803

The first edition in which the Appendix relating to the murder of Logan's family by Captain Cresap, was announced on the title-page, as an answer to the charge that Jefferson had invented the narrative in the Notes to cover the alleged literary imposture of Logan's speech.

Philadelphia: | Printed by Samuel H. Smith, | M.D.CCC

The first form, in which Jefferson produced the great mass of testimony, relating to the murder of Logan's family and other peaceable Indians, by Cresap's party of marauders. If the evidence of the perpetration of these crimes, and of the authenticity of Logan's wonderful speech, are not conclusive, then historical testimony, fortified by corroboration from living witnesses; must be as illusory as fiction. Recent as was the publication of this treatise, there are in my experience few rarer works on American history.

1141 JONES (C. C.). Antiquities of the Southern Indians, particularly of the Georgia Tribes. By Charles C. Jones jr. 8°, cloth, uncut. New York: D. Appleton and Company, 1873 4.25

Almost twenty years of personal explorations of burial and sacrificial mounds find in this volume the record of their results. No volume having the examination of American antiquities for its subject, was ever prepared under such favorable auspices for its perfection. The zeal and learning of its author, impelled him to supplement the theories of others by his own explorations, and discoveries. The plates are from drawings of his own collection and numerous as the objects they illustrate, they represent but a small portion of those which his industry and good fortune have made him the possessor.

The large-minded and heroic Indian chief, who welcomed Oglethorpe to the lands of his nation, and fed and protected the infant colony during those early years, when disease and the Spaniard threatened its existence, well deserved a biography. Mr. Jones has done full justice to his subject, by fortifying the facts of his biography with undoubted authorities.

Stockbridge, in Massachusetts, was the residence of the Stockbridge Housatonic Muh-he-ka-ne-ok (Mohegan) Indians. They were called by the English, 'River Indians,' a fair translation of their name, which signified "The people of the ever flowing waters."

1149 JONES (G.). An Original History of Ancient America, Founded upon the Ruins of Antiquity, the Identity of the Aborigines with the People of Tyrus and Israel, and the Introduction of Christianity by The Apostle St. Thomas. By George Jones... 8°, cloth, pp. 479. London, New York, Berlin and Paris, 1843

The author was afterwards known as the Count Johannes. It is entirely speculative in its character, and might rank well with the seven hundred treatises on the origin of the American Indians, said to have been offered for consideration to a French Society, on the first meeting after the announcement of the subject. The learned Count traces the Tyrian exiles directly to the shores of America, with almost as much definiteness, as he could had he accompanied them. It only needs an Appendix, tracing the ancestry of the American aborigines through the Tyrians, from the planet Herschel, to complete his scheme.— Field.

London: | Printed for Bernard Lintot, | 1719

The edition of 1719 is believed to have been published without the map. The curious relation of Joutel, was the last which the public received of the unfortunate expedition, in which La Salle perished. It was written by one of the companions of that celebrated traveler, who seems to have been the only one on whom La Salle could rely. Joutel was fortunate enough to render him some important services.

1208 KINGSBOROURH (Lord). Antiquities of Mexico: comprising fac-similes of Ancient Mexican Paintings and Hieroglyphics, preserved in the Royal Libraries of Paris, Berlin, and Dresden; in the Imperial Library of Vienna; in the Vatican Library; in the Borgian Musuem at Rome; in the Library of the Institute of Bologna; and in the Bodleian Library at Oxford; together with the Monuments of New Spain, by M. Dupaix; with their respective scales of measurement, and accompanying descriptions; the whole illustrated by many valuable inedited MSS. 9 vols., imp. folio, containing upwards of 1000 large colored plates, embracing all the Remains of Mexican Architecture, Art, Religion, etc., (pub. at £175), half bound in green morocco, gilt edges. London, 1830–48 25.00 per vol

The immense number of historical documents preserved in these volumes, whose mystery has never yet been solved, may be conceived when we state that the first volume contains 228, the second 225, and the third 152 colored plates, in imitation of the barbaric task of the Aztec historians. Many of these plates contain hundreds of figures. The fourth volume contains plates, of which many are immense folded sheets; and although uncolored, are beautifully executed representations of idols, statues, buildings and fortifications. The fifth volume, 493 pages, is entirely occupied with descriptions, (in Spanish), of the plates in the first four volumes; and the sixth volume, 540 pages, is filled with translations of these descriptions accompanied by numerous and lengthy notes. The seventh volume, 464 pages, contains a report of Father Sahagan's Historia de Nueva España. Volume eight contains notes in English, entitled a Continuation of Vol. VI, and Extracts from Garcia, Acosta and Torquemado, with Veytia and Simon's Treatises on the Origin of the Indians; and a report of Adair's History of the North American Indians. In volume nine, the learned and noble editor published, for the first time, the work of Tezozomoc, entitled 'Cronica Mexicana,' he also reproduces the work of Ixtlilxochitl, on the history of the Chicemecas. Also another work by the same author entitled Relaciones Historicas, which I have not seen elsewhere printed. The last treatise (in Spanish), is Ancient Rites, sacrifices and idolatries of the Indians of New Spain.

The sad story associated with these volumes, although often related, is worthy of repetition wherever learning is honored, or devotion to literature esteemed. The Viscount, Edward Kingsborough, seems to have become early imbued with that zeal bordering on infatuation which had illured so many scholars before him; the desire to prove that the American Indians were descendants of the Jews; the mystery of the Aztec pictographs, first attracted his interest and he resolved to at least preserve these unsolved symbols from destruction.

While a scholar at Oxford, the sight of an original Aztec pictograph, described by Purchos aroused that devotion, which never faltered through the remainder of his life. For the accomplishment of his designs, he engaged the services of several scholars and learned bibliophiles. It was while engaged in this employment, that Mr. Obadiah Rich obtained much of that store of information relating to the early history of America, which made him eminent. All the libraries and archives of Spain, were, by royal mandate opened to his search, and nearly one hundred folio volumes of MS. copies of important historical documents rewarded his labors. The whole of this treasure, was, after the death of Lord Kingsborough, sold at auction in Dublin, and Mr. Rich had the good fortune to obtain it almost entire. It is impossible to narrate without sadness, the fatal termination of this generous nobleman's devotion to his project. After having expended more than £30,000, he refused to comply with what he conceived to be the unjust demands of the paper makers, and was arrested in Dublin, and put in prison, when he was seized with the jail fever and died in a few days. Had he lived a few months longer, he would have inherited the title of Earl of Kingston, with an estate of £40,000 a year. Thus fortune laughs at our miseries; and mocks us with success that comes too late. It is to be regretted that Mr. Rich, who tells us this sad story, and adds with justifiable gratification, that Lord Kingsborough presented him with one of the ten copies printed on large drawing paper, should not have informed us how large a number of copies possessed the colored plates, although the other nine were presented to crowned heads, and public institutions.

The History of the New World or description of the West Indies. Asher remarks, concerning this work, that he could not find a copy in Holland. It contains many materials not to be found in the original Dutch. Charlevoix says: "This work is full of the most excellent and curious details of the natural history, and the character, manners, and customs of the American aborigines, derived from the reports of the European mission establishments in America. It contains many documents upon American philology, taken for the most part from the collection of Ramusio, upon the languages of the natives of Canada, and the relation of Lery of those of Brazil."

A Paris: Saugraine l'aine MDCCXXIV

Manners of the Savages of America compared with those of Ancient Times. Gives very extended and very exact details of the customs, manners, and religion of the savages of America, though principally of the Indians of Canada. Charlevoix says: "We have nothing so exact upon the subject of which he treats. His parallel of ancient nations with the American Indians is very ingenious, and exhibits as great familiarity with the nations of antiquity in the Old World, as with the aborigines of the new."

A Amsterdam, Chez la Veuve de Boetemen et se vend A Londres, chez David Mortier, M.DCCIV

Dialogue between the Baron La Hontan, and an American Indian. Containing an exact description of the Manners and Customs of the Savage Natives. The dramatical part of the work is probably imaginary. The traits of the savages are doubtless fairly illustrated in its course, but it was used as a medium by the author to proclaim his deistical theories, and is of as much historical consequence as Rogers's Ponteach, or Count Johannes's Tecumseh, a Drama.

1245 LA HONTAN. New Voyages to North-America. Containing An Account of the several Nations of that vast Continent; their Customs, Commerce, and Way of Navigation upon the Lakes and Rivers; the several Attempts of the English and French to dispossess one another; with the Reasons of the Miscarriage of the former; and the various Adventures between the French, and the Iroquese Confederates of England, from 1683 to 1694 ... Also a Dialogue between the Author and a General of the Savages, giving a full View of the Religion and strange Opinions of these People: with an Account of the Author's Retreat to Portugal & Denmark, and his Remarks on those Courts. To which is added, A Dictionary of the Algonkine Language, which is generally spoke in North-America. Illustrated with twenty-three Mapps and Cutts. Written in French, by the Baron Lahontan, Lord Lieutenant of the French Colony at Placentia in New Foundland, now in England. Done into English, a great part of which never Printed in the Original. 2 vols., 8vo, half calf. 6.00

The work of La Hontan has not received the amount of credit to which it is really entitled, although written by a man of more than ordinary learning and intelligence. Had he written no other work than the New Voyages, it is probable that it would have experienced no lack of esteem, but his Relations even when scrupulously exact, have felt the malign influence of the skepticism and infidelity which he infused into his subsequent work, Dialogue between the Author and a Sauvage. This is a translation of his Voyage originally published in French, in 1703.

D. Bartholomew de Las Casas Bishop of Chiapas, a man learned in every class of science; his wise Examination of the Question whether kings and princes have the right to dispose of their Subjects to other powers. Never before treated at such length, by any learned men. Published by Wolfgang Griesstetter, Frankfort, 1571. This piece of Las Casas' was not included in his Spanish works, first issued in 1551–53, and has never been printed in Spain (Stevens). It is even more rare than the other pieces of Las Casas which are so seldom reunited.

[The Mirror of Spanish Tyranny perpetrated in the West Indies. We see in it a Cruelty more than inhuman committed by the Spaniards, also a description of the countries, natives, and their nature. Illustrated by the Bishop Bartholomew de las Casas, of the Order of Saint Dominick. Newly recollected, with copperplate Figures.] Seventeen copperplate engravings from De Bry are printed in the text. This work is not the same as the Tyrannies et Cruautes des Espagnols. It differs materially also from that afterwards reprinted under the title of Histoire des Indies Occidentales. It is a translation from the Dutch, with the plates engraved by the De Bry's for the edition of 1598, and is the only French edition possessing them. It has been considered as the sequel of a work illustrated by the same engravers, entitled, Tyrannes Espagnole perpetres au Pays Bas, although it is entirely independent in subject and pagination. The Hollanders took every pains to render the cruelty of the Spaniards immortally infamous, and the genius of De Bry was exhausted in illustrating their ingenuity of torture. It contains only a portion of the Brevissima Relacion and Carte, rearranged and distorted with a small fragment of the Cobrapratorio. See Sabin's Dictionary, No. 11270.

This translation of four of Las Casas's treatises, was reproduced the following year in Amsterdam, with the title as below. The Dutch publisher added the Relation of Montauban.

[Relation of the Voyages and Discoveries made by the Spaniards in the West Indies. With the Relation of the Sieur Montauban, Captain of Buccaneers in Guinea, 1695.] This is a translation of five of Las Casas's treatises, entirely different from that of Miggrode. The treatises are all much abbreviated, having been printed to arouse the Hollanders against the Spaniards. The Relation of Montauban has a separate title. Mr. Rich says the translation was made by the Abbe de Bellegarde, whose politeness (or perhaps fear of the Spanish influence at the French court), induced him to soften some of the cruel parts, lest they should give pain to delicate persons.

1278 LAS CASAS. Œuvres de don Barthélemi de Las Casas, évêque de Chiapa, Défenseur de la liberté des naturels de l'Amérique; précédées de sa vie, et accompagnées de notes historiques, additions, devoloppemens, etc., etc.; avec Portrait; par J. Works of D. Las Casas, Defender of the liberty of the Natives of America, preceded by his biography, and accompanied by historical notes, additions, developments, etc. The only collection of the works of the Apostle of the Indians, which was ever printed in a foreign language. It is not a faithful translation.

Relation of the Countries in the West Indies devastated by the Spaniards; translated into Latin by a citizen of Hispalia. Now first published and illustrated with plates. The impression of the plates in this edition are scarcely inferior to those of the first, so highly esteemed for their beauty of execution. From this period, however, they exhibited strong proofs of the wear and dimming of use and age.

Accurate Description of the Indian Countries formerly desolated by the Spaniards. With Wood-cuts taken from life. The plates are illustrative of the horrible cruelties perpetrated by the Spaniards upon the Indians, natives of the countries they conquered; which Las Casas' Relations narrate. This professes to be a translation of the French book entitled Tyrannies et Cruautez des. Espangnols. The Relations of Las Casas proved a most formidable weapon for any nation on ill terms with the Spaniards. Ten editions at least with prints portraying the horrible cruelties perpetrated by the Spanish upon the Indians, were printed in Holland, while struggling with the murderous banditti of Philip II. Three were printed in France, during the prevalence of hostilities with Spain, and four in England under similar animus. It is worthy of note, that the Tears of the Indians places their slaughter at twenty millions, the editor of this Relation doubles the number and calls it forty millions. It is to be hoped that the real number inhumanly tortured and slain has been fictitiously doubled many times, otherwise we should be compelled to believe that the torments of purgatory were too moderate for the Spaniards."—Field.

— 1286 LAS CASAS. Personal Narrative of the First Voyage of Columbus to America. From a manuscript recently discovered in Spain. Translated from the Spanish. 8°, pp. 303.

Boston: Thomas B. Wait & Son, 1827

This work, owes its existence to Las Casas. The original manuscript, in the well known handwriting of the venerable Bishop, was discovered by Navarrette, near the close of the last century; but on account of the disturbed condition of Spanish affairs, did not make its appearance in print, until 1825. The title of the two volumes which it filled, was Coleccion de los Viages, y Descubrimientos que hicieron por mar los Espagnoles desde fines del Siglo XV., etc. This narrative is an English translation of only a small portion of the Spanish work.

History of Florida, containing the three Voyages made to it by certain Captains and Pilots described by Captain Laudonnierre, who commanded in them for three months. To which is added a fourth voyage made by Captain Gourgues. The narratives of the three voyages of Jean Ribaut, first published in 1586, contain the earliest accounts of the Indians of Florida, except such as are found in the Relacion of Cabeca de Vaca. In one respect, at least, it relieves the ferocity charged upon the Savages by most writers, by its narration of the horrible massacre perpetrated on the French, by the fiend Menendez.

The laws of a civilized nation of Indians, printed by native hands, in the language of the government to which they acknowledge fealty; possesses much greater claims to our interest than volumes of even greater pretence. The native habits, both of thought and action, exhibit themselves, in the very laws which these children of the forest enacted to limit and restrain them.

London, 1714. Reprinted, Raleigh, 1860

This work, first published in 1709, was issued as a part of Stevens's Collection of Voyages in 1711. .. The relation of a man of acute habits of observation, some intelligence, and doubtless entire veracity regarding the Indians of North Carolina, at a very interesting period of their existence. Lawson was a land surveyor in the employment of the government, and was the unhappy cause of the exile of the Tuscarora tribe to New York, and its consequent incorporation into the Iroquois Confederacy, by which its name was changed to the Six Nations. As the surveyor was the precursor of the settler, who seized upon and occupied the lands of the savages, he was always the especial object of their detestation.— Field.

New Relation of Gaspe, containing the Manners, and Religion of the Savage Gaspesiens Cross-Bearers, Adorers of the Sun; and of other Natives of that part of North America called Canada. Father La Clercq has left a remarkable record of the labors of his brethren the Recollects, in converting the Pagan tribe of Gaspesien Indians. He not only recorded the results of his own missionary life among the savages inhabiting the shores of the St. Lawrence, but he has left us what has always been considered, an authentic account of their peculiar traits of character, religious rites, and mode of life, before these had been modified by contact with civilization. This Historical and Chronological description of the two stones which at the time of the new pavement being laid in the principal Plaza of Mexico were found in it in the year 1799. The calendar system of the Indians is explained, the method which they had for dividing time, and the correction which they made to adjust the civil year, which they made use of, with the solar tropical year. A notice very necessary for the perfect understanding of the second stone; to which are added others curious and instructive on the Mythology of the Mexicans, on their Astronomy, and on the rites and ceremonies they usually practiced at the period of their heathenism, was published at the expense of the Mexican Government.

History of New France, containing the voyages, discoveries and settlements, made by the French in the West Indies, and in New France, by Commission of our very Christian Kings; and the various fortunes of those engaged in them, during one hundred years to the present time. In which is comprised, the Moral, Natural and Geographic History of the said Provinces, with the necessary Tables and Plates. Lescarbot's history is highly esteemed not only for its great veracity, but as the work of a candid and intelligent writer, and the first history of the French settlements in Canada. Charlevoix's praise of him is flavored with a little of his characteristic acidity. "Marc Lescarbot, advocate in the Parliament of Paris, was a man of sense and learning, but a little addicted to the marvelous." The good father, however, subsequently neutralises the sharpness of his criticism by saying, "Lescarbot has collected with much care all that had been written before him, relating to the discoveries of the French in America, all that passed in French Florida, etc.—He was sincere, well educated, and impartial."

1345 LETTRES EDIFIANTES et Curieuses, écrites des missions étrangères. Nouvelle edition. 30 volumes. 12°.
A Toulouse: Chez Noel-Etienne Sens &c., 1810 .30
Vols. V. to VIII. are filled with Relations, Narratives and Letters from Jesuit Missionaries, written subsequently to the celebrated and rare Relations of the Jesiut Missionaries of Canada to their superiors. They are undoubtedly among the most authentic sources of information regarding some of the most obscure and mysterious of aboriginal customs, languages, and religions. Of the improvements in Querbeuf's edition, Feller says: "Les relations des divers pays étaient placées confusément. Le P. Querbeuf les devisa par contrées, et mit dans leur ordre les lettres qui avaient rapport à la même mission et au même pays. Cet ouvrage a été devisé en quatre parties distinctes, le Levant, l'Amérique, les Indes, la Chine avec les royaumes adjacents; en tête de chaque partie est une preface. L'édition a été augmentée de Mémoires inédits, de Lettres nouvelles, et des notes du savant P. Brotier."

1346 LETTRES Iroquoises, ou correspondence politique, historique et critique entre un Iroquöis Voyageant en Europe, Les correspondans dans l'Amerique septentrionale. 8°, uncut, pp. 70. 75
Londres: Au Berceau de Vérité, 1778

The Lettres Iroquoises were the medium which their author assumed for his political criticisms.

Boston, 1844

1348 LEWIS (J. O.). Aboriginal Portofolio.

6.00 Two large folios containing each thirty-six lithographed Indian portraits. Each number is prefaced with a page commencing "Advertisement to The First — (and Second) — number of the Aboriginal Portfolio." No other text accompanies the prints, and nothing bearing the remotest relation to a title. No. 1 is dated "Phil. July 20th, 1835." No. 2, "Phil. June, 1835." The portraits are each entitled with the name and rank of the Indian personage represented. They have the appearance of being authentic, although no voucher, or explanation of the circumstances under which they were executed, accompanies the plates.

Nearly an exact copy of the previous work.

1353 LEWIS AND CLARKE. History of the Expedition under the Command of Captains Lewis and Clarke, to the Sources of the Missouri, thence across the Rocky Mountains and down the River Columbia to the Pacific Ocean. Performed during the years 1804–5–6. By order of the Government of the United States. Prepared for the Press by Paul Allen, Esquire. 2 vols., 8°, half morocco, uncut. 5.00

Philadelphia, 1814

Commenced by Captain Lewis himself, who was on his route to Philadelphia to engage in its completion, when the derangement seized him, under the influence of which he committed suicide at St. Louis. It was then undertaken by Mr. Nicolas Biddle, who in conjunction with Captain Clarke, arranged the numerous notes, and copious diaries and journals, kept by each of the principal explorers, and enlarged the skeleton of many incidents from the recollections of the survivor.

Mr. Samuel G. Drake says that he was informed by Mr. Nicholas Biddle that he was himself the editor who is referred to in the preface, as having nearly completed the work for the press. This is by far the most complete edition of this interesting work whose value to the historian, the student, or the reader for amusement, has in no degree been superseded by the numerous relations of expeditions which have succeeded it.

Only the first volume of this history was printed. The running title of Logan's history throughout the entire volume is History of the Upper Carolina, ancient territory of the Cherokees, and the incidents connected with aboriginal history form the sole subject of its contents. While the author has availed himself of the material to be found in printed books, his book is largely composed of details gathered by himself from manuscripts and personal reminiscences.

This rarest of books on American Indian history has some bibliographical peculiarities, of which that very rarity has hitherto prevented the recognition. A large correspondence with book collectors, and not a little familiariy with the best of public and private libraries, have brought to my notice but three perfect copies of this work. The popularity of its subject, which caused its constant perusal at country firesides, combined with the fragility of the soft cotton paper upon which it is printed, insured its rapid destruction. See Field's Essays for a lengthened note.

1405 LUTHERI | Catechismus | Ofwersatt | pa | American-Virginiste | Spratet. | 24°, pp. (18) 160. Engraved Title. 14.00
Stockholm, | Anno MDCXCVI

[Luther's Catechism translated into the American-Virginia Language. This translation of Luther's Catechism into the language of the Virginia (or more correctly the Delaware) Indians was made by Thomas Campanius, of Stockholm. He was for many years the resident pastor of the colony, and a learned and zealous man, not only in the exercise of his religious functions but in literary pursuits. This book was printed for distribution in America, among the people into whose tongue it was translated, and has become very rare.

London, MDCCCXXV

Principally devoted to the narration of the peculiarities of the Aborigines of the Arctic regions. Captain Lyon's curiosity led him to observe with great attention, the habits of life, and traits of character of the different tribes of Esquimaux, which his humanity, and good management attracted to his winter quarters.

Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1868

An exceedingly interesting, and doubtless truthful narrative of the astonishing endurance of the United States troops, and the fortitude and courage of the Indians, during the Seminole war.

1418 MCCALL (H.). The History of Georgia, containing Brief Sketches of the most Remarkable Events, up to the Present Day. By Capt. Hugh McCall. 2 vols., 8°, leva nt morocco, by W. Mathews. Savannah: Seymour & Williams, 1811–16

Largely devoted to the history of the border warfare with the Creeks and Cherokees. Numerous incidents relating to the savages of these nations, and their sanguinary attacks upon the frontiers, with sketches of their chiefs, and of the loyalist refugees who led them, are narrated. These were derived in many instances directly from the lips of some of the survivors of these bloody scenes, from manuscripts, or from printed documents, no longer accessible to the student of history.

With a preliminary Account of the Rise, Progress, and Present State of the Fur Trade of that Country. Illustrated with Maps. By Alexander Mackenzie, Esq. 4°, boards, uncut.
London: T. Cadell, 1801

Filled with accounts of the tribes of the Indians, who inhabited the regions traversed by him three quarters of a century ago. No writer upon the subject of Indian customs and peculiarities, has given us a more minute, careful and interesting relation of them, as indeed none were better fitted to do, by long experience among them as a fur trader. His investigations, although pursued at so early a period of Arctic exploration, were remarkable for their accuracy; Sir John Franklin more than once expressing his surprise at being able to corroborate their correctness in his own explorations.

1459 MANTE (T.). The History of the Late War in North America, and the Islands of the West Indies, including the Campaigns of MDCCLXIII. and MDCCLXIV against His Majesty's Indian Enemies. By Thomas Mante, Assistant Engineer during the Siege of the Havanna, and Major of a Brigade in the Campaign of 1764. Maps and plans. 4°, calf, pp. (4) 542, VIII. London: W. Strahan; and T. Cadell, MDCCLXXII 30.00 no maps

Mante's association with the frontier war between the American colonists and the Canadian French and Indians, did not commence until 1764, the last year of hostilities with these allies. He seems, however, to have made good use of his opportunities to gain information. He describes with great detail the campaigns of Washington and Braddock, of Generals Abercrombie and Amherst, and of Colonels Bradstreet and Boquet. The last chapter gives the principal incidents of Pontiac's war. The maps and plans are often missing.

1462 MARCOY. Voyage to South America. Translated. 2 vols., 4°, cloth, gilt. N. Y., 1874

It is difficult to speak of this splendid work in such terms as its excellence deserves, without seeming to be extravagant in laudation. The author has brought the art of photography to aid for the first time, in illustrating a work principally treating of the aborigines of America. Nothing effected by engraving has been published, since the days of the brothers De Bry, so elaborate, so rich, and so perfect in drawing, scenery, costume, and anatomical correctness.

2.52 established the Independence of his Country, and First President of the United States: compiled under the inspection of the Honourable Bushrod Washington, from Original Papers, bequeathed to him by his deceased Relative. To which is prefixed, An Introduction, containing a Compendious view of the Colonies planted by the English on the Continent of North America. By John Marshall, Chief Justice of the United States, &c., &c. 5 vols., 4°, calf.

London: Printed for Richard Phillips,... 1804–1807

The only complete edition of this indispensable work, the Colonial History being omitted in the late American edition. It is a book that contains original information and should be read. It is chiefly compiled from Washington's correspondence, and a life of Washington is of course a history of the American War.— Prof. Smyth.

The first English translation containing the first three Decades. To Richarde Eden Mr. Rich devotes a page of eloquent praise, and quotes the glowing passage in his preface in which he recites the motive which prompted the work. These Decades, first printed in Latin in 1516, contain probably the first systematic and critical narration of the peculiarities of religion and customs of the American Indians. Both this and the subsequent edition of 1577 are considered among the rarities of Bibliography. In catalogues of recent issue in England, the prices at which copies have been offered vary from £15 to £21.

The second English translation of part of the Decades of the New World. Willes added to this edition a translation of a part of the Fourth Decade but without the division into books which Eden preserved. This additional portion is almost wholly descriptive of the pecularities of the aborigines. A compliation from Oviedo and other writers occupies folios 183 to 236.

There is not a little discrepancy in the views of bibliographers, regarding the issues of this edition. White Kennett makes it the first of the complete English editions, placing it under the date of 1597. What authority he had for his conclusion is not even guessed at by the authorities of the present day. Mr. Sabin simply quotes Mr. Rich's note, to the edition of 1612; "Some copies are without date." Fernaux and Stevens do not notice it. It would seem from this negative testimony, to have been even rarer than the editions of 1612, and 1628.

Title, one leaf, reverse blank + "Epistola Dedicatoria" in Latin two leaves. Signed Michael Lok, the first page indorsed as Signature A. 3 + To the Reader, two leaves indorsed as Signatures B and B 2., Total preliminary pp. 10. It will be seen that this edition possesses double the preliminary pages of either the preceding or succeeding titles. This would give some color to the hypothesis, that the edition of 1612 was the first complete English one; as the omission of the "Epistola Dedicatoria" from them both would seem to have been an after thought. Yet there is nothing less certain than a deduction drawn from common sense, in analyzing the motives of an English publisher, two centuries ago. The text of the three editions, and the address "To the Reader," and in every particular identical.

London: Printed for Michael Sparke dwelling at the Signe | of the blue Bible in Green Arbor, 1628

The author was an Italian scholar of a noble family of Milan, born 1455, died 1526. He possessed eminent ability and learning, and is believed to be the first writer who noticed in his works the discovery of America by his countryman Columbus; as he is the first who published a treatise descriptive of the peculiarities of the natives of the New World. He was the contemporary and friend of the great navigators, discoverers, and conquerors — Columbus, Vasco de Gama, Cortes, Magellan, Cabot, and Vespucius. Beside the great advantage thus acquired, his official position as member of the council for the Indies, afforded him the inspection of documents of undoubted authenticity. His work, therefore, composed from sources of such importance, and with such aids, has always been placed in the highest rank of authorities, on the history of the first association of the Indians with Europeans.

1491 MASSACHUSETTS. Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society. 3 vols., 8°, all in boards uncut except vols. 4 and 9 of the 3d Series. Three series of ten volumes each, and a fourth series of eight. Boston, 1792 1871

Almost every volume of the first three series is nearly filled with material illustrating the aboriginal history of the country. Not only were very rare works of that class reprinted, but original treatises and MSS. of the most valuable character were published, and very precious documents, like Gookin's Historical Collections of the Indians of N. E., and Nile's History of the Indian Wars of N. E., were for the first time made accessible to the public. It is to be regretted that the later volumes have assumed more the character of state documents. The first series of ten volumes contains fifty-two treatises on Indian history, languages, or origin; including Roger Williams's Key into the languages of N. E., 35 pages. The second series has fifteen tracts on the same subjects, including Edwards's Observations on the Mohegan Language, with Duponceau's Notes, Winslow's Account of the Religion, Manners, and Customs of the Indians of N. E. But it is in the third series that these collections excel in the number and value of their essays and histories of the aborigines. Sixty-one tracts, illustrating almost every feature of their character and history, are either reproduced, or for the first time brought to light in these volumes. Seven of the eleven reports, to the "Corporation for the Propagation of the Gospel among the Indians," commonly known as the Eliot Tracts, are reprinted in this series. Captain John Underhill's History of the Pequot War; Vincent's Relation of the Battell with the Pequods; Waymouth's Voyage to Va., in 1605; Levett's Voyage to N. E., in 1623; Lion Gardiner's Relation of the Pequod War; Cotton's Vocabulary of Indian Language; Account of Hugh Gibson's Captivity; Niles's History of the French and Indian Wars in New England.

"To the Reader," 4 unnumbered pages; "A Brief History. From the year 1614 to the year 1675. Mather stimulated to this literary labor by the knowledge that his reverend brother, Wm. Hubbard, was engaged upon the same work. Indeed, the two treatises were probably almost simultaneously passing through the press of John Foster. In his preface, Mather exhibits a little trace of acerbity, when he asserts, "This following relation was written neer upon a year ago; since which a reverend author hath emitted a narrative of the troubles which happened by the Indians: * * nevertheless * * most of the things here insisted on, are not so much as once taken notice of in that narrative."

London: John Murray, MDCCCXXIX

The author was very assiduous in collecting facts relating to the condition, history and character of the Indians of Peru and Brazil, particularly of the unexplored districts, in the valley of the Maranon. He studied them with the zeal of a scholar, and the analysis of an ethnologist, and although his opportunities were comparatively narrow, and his tour very rapid, he gleaned with great industry.

1512 MAXIMILLIAN (Alexander Philip). Travels in the Interior of North America. By Maximillian, Prince of Weid. With 16.00 numerous engravings on wood, and a large map. Translated from the German, by H. Evans Loyd. To accompany the original series of eighty-one elaborately colored plates, size, imperial folio. 4°, half morocco, 10 prel. pp. + 520, and 1 vol. folio, of plates. 3 vols. London: Ackerman & Co., MDCCCXLIII

Also Reise in das innere Nord-America in den jahren 1832–34. 2 vols., 4°. Coblenz: J. Hoelscher, 1839–41

4.25 The quarto volume is the text of one of the most beautiful and costly of works, having the American Indians for their subject. The wiseacre who gave it an English dress, takes credit to himself in his preface, for omitting the very extensive vocabularies found in the German edition, occupying nearly one quarter of volume second. To cover this defect the German text is added as above. The volume of plates contains eighty-one vignettes and full-page colored engravings of the most perfect drawing, and beautiful execution. Forty-nine of these are illustrative of some phase in Indian life and character. Two English editions of these plates have been issued, the last, so much inferior to the other as to be unworthy of comparison, was published by Mr. E. Lumley to meet a continued demand for the work.

1513 MAXIMILLIAN. Travels in Brazil, in the years 1815, 1816, 1817. By Prince Maximillian, of Wied-Neuwied. Illustrated 4.25 with Plates. Portrait, map, 6 plates. 4°, cloth, uncut. London, 1820

By Brantz Mayer, formerly Secretary of Legation to Mexico. 2 vols., 8°, roan, pp. 399, 433. Hartford: S. Drake and Company, MDCCCLIII

Probably the most complete and exhaustive history of Mexico. The work is largely devoted to the history, character, and condition of the native races. It is particularly valuable for its statistics obtained from governmental documents, regarding the number and tribes of Indians residing in each state.

1516 MAYER (B.). Observations on Mexican History and Archæology, with a special notice of Zapotec Remains, as delineated in Mr. J. G. Sawkins's drawings of Mitla, etc. By Brantz Mayer. 4 plates. 4°, half morocco, pp. 33. 1.50

1526 MELINE (J. F.). Two Thousand Miles on Horseback. Santa Fé and Back. A Summer Tour through Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, and New Mexico, in the year 1866. By James F. Meline. Map, 12°, pp. x. 317.

New York: Hurd and Houghton, 1868

Mr. Meline possessed the zeal of an antiquary with much of the scholar. His letters are principally occupied with relations of Indian History. The author examined with great care a vast mass of documents relating to the early occupation of New Mexico by the Spaniards. Not the least valuable portion of his book is his catalogue of those documents.

(Remarkable and strange West-India Voyages and Travels, through the Caribbee Islands, New Netherland, Virginia and Spanish America; Containing a very curious description of the said lands, with their inhabitants, religions, government, manners and customs, strange histories and accidents; together with the horrid cruelty exercised by the Spaniards upon the Indians during the conquest of New Spain; and the cruelty of the American Buccaneers towards the Spaniards. Ornamented with copper plates. Described by a noble Englishman, E. M. and several other persons.

All relating to the New Netherlands is taken literally from Vander Donck. The plates in the text of that portion relating to the New Netherlands are copied from De Vries. The manners and customs of the Savages receive much attention from the author, throughout the remainder of his work. This edition is much the rarest and indeed the only one desirable for a collection of books on American history. Contains all relating to America which has been printed on his travels in the East and West Indies.

1542 MENDIETA (G.). Historia Ecclesiastica Indiana obra escrita a fines del siglio XVI, por Fray Geronimo de Mendieta De la Orden de San Francisco. La publica per primera vez Joaquin Garcia Icazbelceta. Royal 8°, cloth, uncut.

Mexico, M.DCCC.LXX

This extraordinary work upon the conversion of the Indians of Mexico to the Catholic faith had slumbered in MS., for 250 years when the eminent Mexican scholar and archaeologist Signor Icazbalceta brought it to the light and universality of the press. Its importance can scarcely be overestimated. Mendieta, for the history of the Aztecs, was sent to Mexico in 1554 and remained there till 1571, having spent much of his time in the study of the Mexican languages. Torquenada evidently had access to his MS., for he has reproduced a large portion of it without giving any credit to Mendieta. His love for the Indians exhibited itself in the same manner as that of LasCasas, and Palafox, and with almost equal fervor and eloquence, he appealed in his numerous letters to the king and the council of the Indians in their defence.

Lexington, Ky.: | Printed by William G. Hunt, | 1821

This very rare work is a compilation, principally from available sources, of the narratives which in their original form had even at the date of its publication, become scarce. It includes Colonel Boone's Narrative, Dr. Knight's and Slover's Narrative of Captivity, Colonel James Smith's Narrative of captivity. As a contribution to the literature illustrative of aboriginal and frontier life, it will probably always preserve its rank among rare and costly books.

The Tierra de Guarra of the time of Las Casas remained for three centuries not only the Land of War, but the land of mystery. A vast tract of territory in Guatemala, inhabited by the fierce Itzas and Locandons, whose wars are recorded by Villagnatierre; was for the first time visited by a peaceful traveler in 1846. The adventurous Frenchman, whose literary thirst impelled him to explore this mysterious country, recorded his observations in a manner which entitles them to more credence than could be fairly claimed by many of his countryman. His work is largely composed of details of his intercourse with the modern Indians, and of his examinations of the relics of the ancient inhabitants.

Natural History, With Illustrations By Richard H. Pease. 20 colored plates. 8°, Title and pp. 69 to 117. Albany, (1851)

Part of the Fifth Report of the Regents of the University of New York. These three essays form such an important body of material relating to the Iroquois, that although not issued as separate works, they are worthy of a place in a bibliography of works upon the American Indians. They are the result of the personal observations, of one of the most acute and scrupulous of scholars and the Indian utensils and manufactures they illustrate are the fruits of his own untiring zeal in collecting. The plates are exact portrayals of the beautifully wrought and colored objects of Indian skill. Beside the number, indicated in the collection, sixty-eight woodcut illustrations of other and similar objects are distributed in the text.

1618 MORTON (S. G.). Crania Americana; or a Comparative View of the Skulls of Various Aboriginal Nations of North and 30.00 South America: To which is prefixed an Essay on the Varieties of the human Species. Illustrated by Seventy-Eight Plates and a Colored Map. By Samuel George Morton: Philadelphia. 78 folio plates. Folio, uncut, pp. v, 296.
London: [i. e. Philadelphia,] 1839

Highly esteemed by ethnologists, and is certainly the result of a vast amount of original research, by a learned and zealous investigator. The cranial forms of more than forty Indian nations once inhabiting the two Americas, from Canada to Brazil, are examined and compared. Both in this country and in Europe, wherever learning and science are reverenced, Mr. Morton's work has been recognized, as one of the best contributions to exact knowledge of the history of Man, ever offered as the work of one individual, excepting always the works of Humboldt.

London: Hatchard & Son, 1841

1649 NARRATIVE, A, Another copy. 8°, boards, uncut. 1841
Exceedingly interesting. "An imbecile old chief, called Enematkla, was the first to declare himself a traitor to his tribe, by affixing his sign-manual; he was followed by a few others of inferior grade, until it was submitted to Oceola, who, with all the pride of offended dignity thus offered to himself and his countrymen, with indignation sparkling in his eye, and a contemptuous curl of the lip, drew from his bosom a dagger, and with a countenance that seemed to strike terror into all by whom he was opposed, he hurled the trusty steel with such force into the hateful document, that it passed fairly through the table, exclaiming at the same time, "There is my mark."

1650 NARRATIVE, A, of the Horrid Massacre by the Indians, of the wife and children of the Christian Hermit, a resident of Missouri, with a full Account of his Life and Sufferings, never before published....plate. 8°, pp. 24.

1724 OLLANTA. An ancient Ynca Drama. Translated from the original Quichua. By Clements R. Markham. 12°, cloth, pp. (2) 128. London: Trübner & Co, 1871 2.75

This remnant of the literature of the Incas, was preserved until about 1770, by the quipus, or knotted calendar; when Dr. Valdoz, who had often witnessed the representation of the drama by Indian actors, before the ill-fated Inca, Tupac Amaru, reduced it to writing. From this copy, written by the Cura in pure Quichua, Mr. Markham has translated this English version. Its great antiquity is authenticated, not so much by the existence of several copies in MS. as by the conformity of wide-spread traditions, and the entire absence of every Spanish word. There is not the slightest trace of ideas, derived from civilization or Christianity. It has received the sanction of such scholars as Drs. Riviero, Tschudi, and Barranca, who were convinced that it was composed long before the conquest of Peru by Pizarro.

A Pictorial Narrative of Voyages in the two Americas. A general resumé of all the voyages of Columbus, Las Casas, Oviedo, Gomara, Garcilaso de la Vega, Acosta, Dutertre, Labat, Stedman, La Condamine, Ulloa, Humboldt, etc., by the Editors of the Voyage Pittoresque autour du Monde, comprises a resumé of the principal facts gleaned from the relations of the authors enumerated on the title-page, has little other value than is derived from the one hundred and thirty-four folio pages of steel and copper-plate engravings, of which there are two on each page. More than one-half of these are illustrative of some phase in the life, customs, and history of the numerous tribes of Indians of South America and Mexico. Brief descriptions of these facts are found in the text.

México: J. M. Andrade y F. Escalante, 1864

CONTENTS. Primera Parte. Ensayo de clasificacion de las lenguas de México Segunda Parte. Apuntes para las inmigraciones de las tribus en México. Tercera Parte. Geografia de las lenguas de México. This work of the learned Licentiate Don Manuel Orozco is without question not only the best publication about the geography of Mexican idioms, but also a standard for all books on the geography of languages in general. Orozco is the first to show by languages, numerous and hitherto almost unknown, how such a subject must be treated. He classifies them, describes them, determines their geographical distribution, and offers thus to the public a work quite unique. The twelve years which this modest scholar devoted to the composition of his book must have been to him a period of incessant labour and research.

An | Historical & Geographical | Description | of the | Great Country & River | of the Amazones | in | America. | Drawn out of Divers Authors, and reduced | into a better forme; with a Mapp of | the River, and of its Provinces being | that place which S^r Walter Rawleigh intended | to conquer and plant, when he made his Voy- | age to Guiana. | Written in French by the Count of Pagan, and | dedicated to Cardinall Mazarine, in order | to a Conquest by the Cardinals moti | on to be undertaken. | And now translated into English by William | Hamilton, and humbly offered to his Majesty, | as worthy his Consideration. | By Mathews. 12°, levant morocco.

6.25 London: | printed for John Starkey at the Miter in Fleet | -Street near Temple-Barre, 1661

Several chapters of this curious work are devoted to descriptions of the aborigines of the valley of the Amazon; and those treating of the advantages of commerce with them, suggest an odd comparison with the works of our own day, written two centuries later, which do but little more than repeat the same statements. It is composed principally from that of Acuna. The map is almost without exception, missing from the copies offered for sale. This is the only edition in English.

It is also remarkable as containing a chart asserted to have been made by himself while he was blind. It is said not to be very correct, although a wonderful production for such an artist.

.30 IV, LVI, 576 + 3 plates.

A Cologne: et Paris M. Nyon, M.DCC.LXVIII

Palafox, distinguished by his virtues, and contests with the Jesuits was the author of a work now very rare entitled Virtues del Indian, a memorial to the king in defence of the Indians of his diocese of which only a very few copies were printed. Of its existence his biographer seems to have been entirely ignorant; and he is almost as reticent regarding his conduct towards the Indians.

1751 PAPOONAHOAL. An Account of a Visit lately made to the People called Quakers In Philadelphia, by Papoonahoal, An Indian Chief, And several other Indians, chiefly of the Minisink Tribe. With the Substance of their Conferences on that Occasion. 18°, levant, morocco, by Bradstreet. 24.00
London: S. Clark, MDCCLXI.

His speeches to the Friends are models of good sense and religious conviction; but the most remarkable of all the numerous addresses by American Indians, was made by him to the Governor, who offered him a considerable, and to the chief very valuable amount of goods, as a present. The dignified and noble reply, in which he declined to receive them, on the ground that his visit was entirely for religious instruction, and therefore of too sacred a character to admit of the gross indulgence of personal desires, is worthy of a place on the same page with the most renowned sayings of the heroes of antiquity. The book is of considerably rarity.

The last three works have each the serial title of France and England in North America. A series of historical narratives, Parts I to III. They are beautifully printed, the edition in this size being limited to one hundred copies.

1766 PARRY (William Edward). Journal of a Voyage for the Discovery of a Northwest Passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Performed in the Years 1819–20. In His Majesty's Ships Hecla and Griper, Under the Orders of William Edward Parry, R. N. F. R. S.. and Commander of the Expedition; With an Appendix, containing the Scientific and other Observations. Published by Authority of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. 20 Plates. 4°, boards, uncut, pp. xxix, 310, cccx. London: John Murray, MDCCCXXI.

1768 PARRY (W. E.). Journal of a Second Voyage for the Discovery of a North-West passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific; performed in the years 1821–22–23 in his Majesty's Ships Fury and Hecla, under the orders of Captain William Edward Parry, R. N., F. R. S., and Commander of the Expedition. Illustrated by Numerous Plates. Published by authority of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. 8 engravings, maps and plans. 4°, boards, uncut. London: John Murray, MDCCCXXIV.

Throughout the whole of this splendid work, the characteristics of the Esquimaux, and incidents of intercourse with them, absorb the attention of the writer. The work is in truth a splendid treatise on aboriginal life, rather than a narrative of scientific discoveries.

1771 PATON (A.). Narrative of the Loss of the Schooner Clio, of Montrose, Captain George Reid; containing an account of the Massacre of her Crew by the Indians, on the north coast of Brazil, in October, 1835; with other interesting particulars, relative to the subsequent Adventures, and miraculous Escape of the author from the hands of a Savage People. By Alexander Paton, a native of Ferryden, the only Survivor. Second Edition, Enlarged and Improved. 12°, pp. 60.
Montrose: Smith & Co., 1838

Told with the simple style of truth, and affords us a new view of the character of the natives of the coast of Brazil.

1772 PATTERSON (A. W.). History of the Backwoods; or, the Region of the Ohio: Authentic, from the Earliest Accounts. Embracing many Events, Notices of Prominent Pioneers, Sketches of Early Settlements, etc., etc., etc. Not heretofore published. By A. W. Patterson. Map. 8°, pp. + 5 — 311.
Pittsburgh: The Author, 1843

A very good compilation of the narratives, histories, and sketches of western adventure and frontier life, with a considerable proportion of that material described by the author as "Not heretofore published."

1773 PATTIE (J. O.). The Personal Narrative of James O. Pattie, of Kentucky, during an Expedition from St. Louis, through the Vast Regions between that place and the Pacific Ocean, and thence back through the City of Mexico to Vera

Cruz, during Journeyings of Six Years; in which he and his Father, who accompanied him, suffered unheard of Hardships and Dangers, had various Conflicts with the Indians, and were made Captives, in which captivity his Father died: Together with a Description of the Country, and the various Nations through which they passed. Edited by Timothy Flint. 8°, pp. 300. Cincinnati: E. H. Flint, 1833

Possesses more than the ordinary interest and value, which attaches to the stories of adventurers. He crossed the continent of America on a route which his party were the first to pursue. He encountered tribes of Indians who then saw a white man for the first time, and his narrative has the merit of being given in a candid, unexaggerated style which impresses us with its veracity.

This work, in any condition, ranks among the rarest of New England imprints. In this copy is a MS. note. "The Rev. N. M. wrote to his brother Rev. Increase Mather a letter received August 12, 1685. 'A good friend and near Relation of mine, one Mr. Rich' Lot, merch't in London, who married my sister Thompson, desires me to write in behalf of this gentleman ye bearer his kinsman, Mr. Penhallow of Falmouth in Cornwall, who designs to spend a year or two in New England, in your colledge, for ye prfecting his learning," (from the original MSS. J. W. T.). The author was born in Cornwall, England, July, 1665, and arrived in Portsmouth, New Hamshire, July, 1686. He held many important offices of public trust with great honor, being chief justice of the Province, at the period of his death, in December, 1726, at the age of sixty-one. His work on the Indian wars is esteemed as the highest authority on that subject. His design in emigrating was to serve the corporation for the propagation of the gospel among the Indians, as a missionary, after he had made himself acquainted with their language. Whether he ever really performed that service is uncertain. His MS. diary kept with great care, and covering a great portion of his life, was destroyed in the conflagration of Portsmouth, 1802.

Leipzig & Paris, librairies a Frank, 1864

The work of Perrot here presented to the public for the first time had remained in Manuscript for more than a century and a half; but not unknown. It had served Charlevoix in the preparation of his great history of New France; as it had long before its governors La Barre, Denonville, and Frontenac in determining their policy towards the various tribes of Indian allies and foes it describes. Its author was for twenty years a simple fur trader, visiting and residing for long periods from 1661 to 1665 with the savages he had made his friends. For nearly twenty years subsequently he was the official interpreter of the government. "His facility in acquiring the Indian languages, his natural eloquence, the blending of heroism, and hardiness, of coolness and generosity, acquired for him the confidence, and affection of a great number of tribes." His work has therefore a different and in some respects a higher value than the relations of the missionary fathers; regarding the Indian tribes two centuries ago.

Most of the large plates have numerous figures of the aborigines, exhibited in some stately pageant of homage to the discoverers and evangelists, or in a horrid festival of cannibalism, or in some appalling scene of massacre and torture perpetrated upon them. A curious bibliographical history attaches to this volume. The real name of the author was Caspar Plautus, who assumed the pseudonym of Philoponus, in order to admit of one of the most extraordinary devices of egotism, ever contrived. He wrote a most fulsome piece of flattery, and in his character of Philoponus, dedicated it to himself, in his own proper cognomen. By this device, his work, everywhere it was read, advertised the merit and learning of Caspar Plautus, and the praise seemed vastly more important, as issuing from so learned a person as Philoponus. Mr. Henry Stevens first called the attention of English scholars to this curious chapter in the history of egotism. The work contains the relations of the first Catholic missionaries to the Indians of America, some of whom accompanied Columbus in his second voyage, and has the merit of affording us many incidents of their work among the savages of the first discovered islands. It is deformed, however, by nearly as many monkish tales of the miracles performed by them, on most whimsical occasions.

It is scarcely possible to express that praise of this work which is their merest due, without seeming extravagance. It is a model of local or state history. But it is the great mass of historic material relating to the aborigines of Alabama, which particularly entitles it to our attention. The first volume exhausts that portion of their history which is obtainable from the most authentic of printed authorities, but the second, is filled with accounts derived from unpublished documents, or personal relations made to the author. Few writers have possessed greater facilities for this last mentioned resource, than Mr. Pickett, having resided among the Creeks and Cherokees with his father, an early Indian trader. All of the thirteen plans with which the work is illustrated, have for their subjects either the features, customs, fortifications, Indian mounds of, or battles with the Indians.

The first volume of this work is divided into twelve, and the second volume into twenty sections, each with a bastard title, and devoted to an analysis of one or more aboriginal languages, or dialects. Of these, forty-eight receive some attention, and most of them a critical examination. The peculiarities of each in grammatical construction, enunciation, and the varied particulars which distinguish them, are discussed with the skill of an intelligent philologist. No work on the Indian languages of America exhibits the tokens of more labor aided by learning than this, yet it is said by excellent authorities to be far from perfect.

1823 PINTO (F. M.). Die wunderliche Reisen Ferdinandi Mendez Pinto; Welche er innerhalb ein und zwanzig Jahren durch Europa, Asia und Africa. Plates. Small 4°, half vellum.

Deporte a Cayenne pendant trois ans. 2 vols., 8°, half calf, An. xiii. A Paris, [1805]

Voyage to Guiana, in the two Americas, to the home of the cannibals. The work ornamented with engravings, and containing a view of the manners of the savages, the blacks, the Creoles, and the Quakers.

1830 PLAIN FACTS: being An Examination into the Rights of the Indian Nations of America, to their respective Countries; and a vindication of the Grant, from The Six United Nations of Indians, to The Proprietors of Indiana, against the Decision of the Legislature of Virginia; together with Authentic Documents, proving That the Territory, Westward of the Allegany Mountain, never belonged to Virginia, &c. 8°, pp. 165. Philadelphia: R. Calken, MDCCLXXXI

The author of this work is unknown. It has been attributed to Benjamin Franklin, and to Anthony Benezet. Its style is much more scholarly and judicial than that of either of these writers. It is declared by all to be the ablest treatise on the tenure of the Indian claim to the title of lands occupied by them, ever written.

1831 PLUMMER (C.) Narrative of the Captivity and extreme Sufferings of Mrs. Clarissa Plummer, Wife of the late Mr. James Plummer, of Franklin County, State of New York; who, with Mrs. Caroline Harris, wife of the late Mr. Richard Harris, were, in the Spring of 1835, with their unfortunate families, surprised and taken prisoners by a party of the Camanche Tribe of Indians, while Emigrating from said Franklin County (N.Y.) to Texas; and after having been nearly two years in captivity, and witnessed the deaths of their husbands, were redeemed from the hands of the savages by an American Fur Trader, a native of Georgia ... A Paris, Chez Bauche, Libraire, Quai des Augustins, a l'Image Genevieve & a Saint Iean dans le Desert,
MDCC LXIII

Dictionary of the Galibi language, presented under two forms. First, commencing with the French word. Second, commencing with the Galibi word preceded by a grammatical essay. Mr. Ludwig informs us that the initials on the title page are those of M. de la Sauvage, but leaves us in doubt whether he was the author of more than the grammar. The dictionary forms part of Prefontaine's Maison Rustique, and was compiled from the works of Boyer, Pelliprat, Biet, Barrere, Labat, and some manuscript relations.

A political satire, in which the tenantry of England are alluded to as Indians,—a poor performance, which has lost its interest.

#32.00 1925 RELATION, A, of the Invasion and Conquest of Florida, by the Spaniards, Under the Command of Ferdnando de Soto. Written in Portuguese by a Gentleman of the Town of Elvas. Now Englished. To which is Subjoyned Two Journeys of the present Emperour of China into Tartary in the Years 1682 and 1683. With some Discoveries made by the Spaniards in the island of California, in the year 1683. Small 8°, pp (11) (v.) 272. London : Printed for John Lawrence, at the Angel in the Poultry over against the Compter, 1686.

Translated from the edition in French, printed in Paris the year before. Mr. Rich says the translator seemed to be unaware that Hakluyt printed it in English, nearly eighty years previously, that is, in 1609. It is interesting as being the second printed account of Florida, the Commentaries of Cabeca de Vaca having been printed in 1555. The volume has an additional value in containing the first relation of the settlement of California printed in English, the new descent of the Spaniards on the Island of California having taken place in 1683.

1936 REPORT (Fourth Annual) of the Board of Indian Commis- 1.00 sioners to the President of the United States 1872. Washington: Government Printing Office, 1872

1937 REPORT of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. 36 vols., 8°, red cloth. Washington, 1835 – 1870

2.50 each The reports of the Indian bureau, and of the commissioner for Indian affairs, form a body of material relating to the Indians, almost unrivaled for its minuteness in any department of history. The names, numbers, and condition of the Indian tribes, are given with all the attention to details and correctness, which a multitude of agents more or less efficient, and sometimes conscientious, could be induced by interest and discipline to collect. To no other source can we look for the progressive steps, by which the savage tribes retreated before the overwhelming charge of the army of civilization. The reports cover the whole history of the dealings of the government with its Indian wards. They have become exceedingly scarce, for no complete set is known to exist, even in the library of Congress or in the documents of the Indian Bureau.

1940 REPORT of the Joint Delegation appointed by the Committees in the Indian Concern, of the Yearly Meeting of Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York respectively: To visit the Indians under the care of Friends, in the Northern Superintendency, State of Nebraska, 7th and 8th Mos., 1869. 12°, pp. 66. Baltimore, 1869 75

1941 REPORT on the Memorials of the Seneca Indians and Others, Accepted November 21, 1840, in the Council of Massachusetts. 8°. Boston: Dutton and Wentworth State Printers, 1840 1.60

Exposes another of those schemes of villany which the agents of the government have been so fertile in producing. In this case the story is more revolting than usual. See Field's Essay No. 1285.

1942 REPORT on the Sudbury Fight, April, 1676. Read at the October Meeting of the Society, 1866, and reprinted from the N. E. Historical and Genealogical Register. 8°, uncut, pp. 12. [n. d.] 1.00

1944 REPORT of Indian Peace Commissioners. Message from the President of the United States, transmitting Report of the Indian Peace Commissioners. 8°, pp. 23. Washington, 1868 Cut

This is the first report of the Commissioners who voluntarily assumed the duties of making treaties and furnishing supplies to the Indian tribes which had surrendered their hunting grounds, and accepted other lands to starve to death upon.

1945 REPORT of Indian Commissioners. Second annual report of the Board of Indian Commissioners to the Secretary of the Interior, for Submission to the President. For the year 1870. 8°, pp. 149. Washington: Government printing office, 1871 1.60

This must not be confounded with the annual reports of the Indian Bureau. The Indian Commissioners were nine gentlemen who were appointed without Salaries by the President to surpervise the actions of the salaried officers in relation to the Indians as well as to treat with the Indians themselves. The government of the United States has always had two enemies to fight in its dealings with the warlike savages; the Indians themselves, and its own officers, who were charged with the duty of preserving peaceful relations with them. This outrageous corruption, swindling and thieving, joined to the wanton murders, and cruel massacres of the white savages of the border, compelled the government to accept of the volunteer service of some of its most disinterested citizens to treat with the Indians.

In this most heroic aboriginal tragedy, written by one whose sole knowledge of Indian character was obtained from the midnight brawls of the ruffian Mokocks of London, Onoutlio-Neidau and Maraino speak after the fashion of Brutus and Coriolanus. Yet it has been supposed that it suggested to Campbell his Gertrude of Wyoming.

With a Caribbian Vocabulary. Rendered into English, by John Davies of Kidwelly. 4 Plates. Folio, calf, pp. 336.
London: Printed by J. M. for Thomas Drury and John Starkey. 1666

This book is an example of the most unblushing effrontery. The pseudo author assumes the credit of the performance with but the faintest allusion to its previous existence. It is a nearly faithful translation of Rochefort's Histoire des Antilles. There is, however, a gratifying retribution in Davies' treatment of Rochefort, for the work of the latter was fictitious in every part which was not purloined from authors whose knowledge furnished him with all in his treatise which was true.

2016 Ross The Fur Hunters of the Far West; a narrative of adventures in the Oregon and Rocky Mountains. By Alexander Ross. Portrait and map. Post 8°, cloth, uncut, pp. xv. 333; viii, 262. London: Smith Elder & Co., 1855 2.75

The narrations of an intelligent observer of the peculiarities of savage life, always attract an amount of interest, which increases in proportion to the truthfulness of his coloring or shading. In all the qualities which should attract and hold our attention, it is rare to find the superior of Mr. Ross. For fifteen years he traversed the wastes of the Rocky Mountains, and thus became as familiar with every trait of Indian character and phase of savage life, as a white man may ever expect to be. As an Indian trader pushing his commerce among friendly but treacherous tribes, and even among hostile ones who are to be placated by resistless finery, or the equally omnipotent fire-water, he was often the first white man to burst upon their wild fastnesses. The Appendix, pp. 313 to 333 contains a vocabulary of the Nez Perce language.

Mexico: Imprenta del Ciudadano Alejandro Valdés, 1829–30

General History of the affairs of New Spain, which was written in twelve books, and two volumes, by Father Bernardino de Sahagun, of the order of St. Francis, and one of the first preachers of the Gospel, in these countries. Edited with the addition of notes, and a supplement, by Carlos Maria de Bustamente, a deputy from the State of Oaxaca, to the General Congress of the Mexican Republic. This wonderful work, to which the entire life of Father Sahagun was devoted, is beyond question the most important, as it is the most authentic history of events, transpiring in the New World, before its discovery by Columbus. All that relates to the religion, customs, government, and wars of the Aztecs, was examined in a manner so critical, so patient and thorough that no history was ever conceived, or brought forth with more labor.

Taken from the files of the House of Representatives in Congress. 8°.
Philadelphia, 1812

A narrative of the terrible defeat and slaughter, of eight hundred soldiers by the Ohio Indians. St. Clair's voluminous defense is rendered nugatory and futile by the passionate ejaculations of Washington, when Major Denny called him from a dinner-party, to announce the defeat. Overcome with surprise and indignation, Washington cursed the beaten general with exceeding fervor, adding, "Did not my last words warn him against a surprise."

#102.50 with the | first settlers of the Uni | ted States, | particularly | in New England. | Written in Vermont. | 16°, levant, morocco, pp. 319. Montpelier: Vt., | Wright & Sibley, | 1812 |

The mystery which surrounded the authorship, history, and origin of this very rare volume, has been slowly dispelled by successive fragments of information. So few copies have survived the holocaust to which it was devoted, that its very existence was unknown to the most zealous collectors of Indian and Vermont history. Published anonymously, without preface, it was known to but few that the author was the Rev. Daniel Clark Sanders, President of the University of Vermont. Immediately after its appearance, some person, evidently a personal enemy of the author, published an acrimonious critique upon the book, in the Liberal and Philosophical Repository. The animus of the critic was evidenced, not only by the bitterness of his language, but by his ignorance of the subject of Indian wars, being more profound than that of the author of the book he scored. Such was the effect of the article

Mr. Sabin remarked at the Sale that but one other perfect copy was known upon either Mr. Sanders, or the publishers, that the work was suppressed. But very few copies could have escaped the hands that were now as zealous to destroy, as they had lately been to create. In fact, so nearly complete was the destruction of the book, that it was forgotten by those who professed to know most of its author, his biographers. Neither Thompson, Williams, or Hemmenway, who published memoirs of Sanders, mention his authorship of this book.

Sixteen plates in pairs, facing each other. Seven of the elaborate very vivid representations are views of battles with the Indians, or assaults on their fortifications; five are representations of their dwellings, persons, or mode of life; one is a portrait of Schmidel, two are scenes of shipwreck and earthquake, and one a view of some bloody slaughter. This early relation of a traveler is very rare.

Published by authority of Congress. 6 vols., 4°, half morocco, gilt top. Philadelphia: Lippincott, Grambo, & Co., 1853 12.00

It has performed a very important service for Indian history, in collecting and preserving an immense amount of historic data. Vocabularies of Indian languages, grammatical analysis, legends of various tribes, biographies of chiefs and warriors, narratives of captivities, histories of Indian wars, emigrations, and theories of their origin, are all related and blended in an extraordinary and perplexing manner. A very large number of beautiful steel engravings, representative of some phase of Indian life and customs, are contained in the work, but the most valuable of its illustrations are the drawings of weapons, domestic utensils, instruments, on gunning and amusement, sorcery, and medicine, objects of worship, their sculptures, paintings, and fortifications, pictograph writing, dwellings, and every form of antiquities, which have been discovered. The six volumes contain 336 plates, representing thousands of the scenes and objects named.

This well written narrative, purporting to be only the biography of a captive among the Senecas, is really the best resumé we have of incidents in the history and common life of the Seneca Indians.

2166 SMITH (J.). An Account | of the | Remarkable Occurrences | in the Life and Travels of | Col. James Smith, | (Now a Citizen of Bourbon County, Kentucky),| during his Captivity with the Indians, | in the years 1755, '56, '57, '58, & '59, | In which the Customs, Manners, Traditions, Theological Sen | timents, Mode of Warfare, Military Tactics, Discipline and | Encampments, Treatment of Prisoners, &c., are better ex | plained and more minutely narrated, than has been heretofore | done by any author on that subject. Together with a De | scription of the Soil, Timber and Waters, where he travel | led with the Indians, during his captivity. | To which is added, | A Brief Account of some Very Uncommon Occurrences, which | transpired after his return from captivity; as well as of the | Different Campaigns carried on against the Indians to the | Westward of Fort Pitt, since the year 1755, to the present | date. Written by Himself. | 8°, pp. 88. | Lexington: | Printed by John Bradford, on Main Street, | 1779 | 40.00

Original edition of one of the rarest works of western history. Indeed, in the quality of rarity, it is only exceeded by Loudon's Narrative. Colonel Smith was himself the type of the chivalric, brave, and generous frontiersman, of which class Daniel Boone and Simon Kenton were famous examples. He possessed the advantage of an intellect, cultivated in the rude border schools, it is true, yet not ill cultivated in such places as heroes were not seldom bred.

2167 SMITH. A Treatise on the Mode and Manner of Indian War, their Tactics, Discipline and Encampment, the various Methods they Practise, in order to obtain the Advantage, by Ambush, Surprise, Surrounding, &c. Ways and Means proposed to Prevent the Indians from obtaining the Advantage. A Chart, or Plan of Marching, and Encamping, laid down, whereby we may undoubtedly Surround them, if we have Men sufficient. Also — A Brief Account of Twenty-three Campaigns, carried on against the Indians with the Events since the year 1755; Gov. Harrison's included. By Col. James Smith. Likewise — Some Abstracts selected from his Journal, while in Captivity with the Indians, relative to the Wars: which was published many years ago, but few of them now to be found. 12°, pp. 29. Paris: Printed by Joel R. Lyle, 1812

The Narrative of Colonel Smith's Captivity had already become scarce, when the patriotic veteran, on the breaking out of the war with Great Britian, fully comprehending the danger of underrating the savage foe, whom that government would make its allies, issued this treatise of military instruction. The work has become even rarer than the previous lot.

2168 SMITH. An Account of the Remarkable Occurrences in the Life and Travels of Col. James Smith, during his Captivity with the Indians, in the years 1755, 56, 57, 58, & 59. With An Appendix of Illustrative Notes. By Wm. M. Darlington, of Pittsburgh. Royal 8°, pp. xii, 190.

Cincinnati, Robert Clarke & Co., 1870

Is greatly enriched by the notes of Mr. Darlington, a gentleman whose knowledge of western history and the localities of its historic scenes, is more intimate and accurate than that of any person now living.

2169 SMITH (J.). The | General Historie | of | Virginia, New-England, and the Summer | Isles: with the names of the Adventurers, | Planters, and the Governours from their | first beginning An°: | 1584. to this | present 1624. | With the Proceedings of those Severall Colonies | and the Accidents that befell them in all their | Journyes and Discoveries. | Also the Maps and Descriptions of all those | Countryes, their Commodities, people, | Government, Customes, and Religion | yet knowne. | Divided into sixe Bookes. | By Captaine Iohn Smith sometymes Governour | in those Countryes & Admirall | of

New-England. | 4 maps. Folio, pp. (14) 248. Fine copy, levant morocco, by W. Mathews.

London: | Printed by I. D. and | I. H. for Michael | Sparkes. | 1624

The greater part of the value of this work, consists in the perfection and identity of the maps. The first edition is the most desirable when it possesses the maps properly belonging to it. In the subsequent editions, the maps underwent such alterations as distinguish each of them from the others. It is so commonly the case, as almost to form the rule, that even the best copies of Smith's book have been made up by the substitution of later editions of some of the maps. This uncertainty extends even to the portraits. That of the Duchesse of Richmond, is generally supposed to have been reëngraved, and collectors have been somewhat puzzled to ascertain if their copies were originals I have copies both of the original impression, and the so called replica, and the distinction between the original impressions and the subsequent ones, consists in the cross hatchings which were made after the impressions were taken for Smith's history.

2170 SMITH. The | Trve Travels, | Adventvres, | and | Observations | Of | Captaine Iohn Smith, | In Europe, Asia, Affrica, and America, from Anno | Domini | 1583 to 1629. | His Accidents and Sea-fights in the Straights, his Service |...After how he was taken prisoner by the Turks, Sold for a Slave, sent into | Tartaria,...| Together with a continuation of his general History of Virginia, | Summer-Isles, New England, and their proceedings since 1624, to this | present 1629; as also of the new Plantations of the great | River of the Amazons, the Isles of St. Christopher, Mevis, | and Barbados in the West Indies. | All written by actuall Authours, whose names | you shall finde along the History. | Plate. Folio, pp (12) 60, levant morocco, by Bradstreet. $147.50

"The typographical and cartographical execution of these volumes is much more deserving of praise than their literary qualities. The maps are beautifully reproduced in fac-simile, and the text as admirably printed, but the various works of Captain John Smith, adventurer, poet, and historian, are blended in an exceedingly puzzling way, for ascertaining when the history of Virginia begins and the true travels end." Field.

2199 [SMITH.] The same. First edition. 4°, calf.
Philadelphia: William Bradford, MDCCLXV. 22.50

Narrates the details of the first victory, gained over Indian forces by English troops, after the savages had been taught the use of fire-arms. Nearly twenty years elapsed before the whites gained another, during which period they suffered such dreadful defeats in thirteen battles at the hands of the Indians, that the blood thickens with horror at their narration. Colonel Bouquet by his judicious arrangements first laid down the plan, in following which General Wayne secured the same result.

2260 STEPHENS (J. L.). Incidents of Travel in Central America, Chiapas, and Yucatan. By John L. Stephens. ... Illustrated by Numerous Engravings. Twelfth Edition. 2 vols., 8°, half morocco, uncut. New York: Harper & Brothers, 1867 3.25

It is difficult to believe that two individuals were capable of such an astonishing amount of labor, as is evidenced in these volumes. The wonderful structures of the race of Indians which once inhabited the peninsula of Central America, are here described by pen and pencil, with great clearness and minuteness. The temples, sculptures, idols, utensils, buildings and architecture, of that active, intelligent, and almost mythical people, are illustrated by more than seventy engravings, from drawings by Mr. Catherwood.

2261 STEPHENS. Incidents of Travel in Yucatan. By John L. Stephens. Illustrated by 120 Engravings. 2 vols., 8°, cloth. New York: Harper & Brothers, 1858 1.50

One year after the termination of his first explorations, the author set out upon the one, the incidents of which are here narrated. So far from exhausting the antiquities of the peninsula in his first two volumes, these add to our astonishment by portraying the gigantic ruins of still more imposing structures, erected by the vanished race of peninsular aborigines.

2262 STEVENS (E. T.). Flint Chips; a Guide to Pre historic Archæology, as illustrated by the collection in the Blackmore Museum, Salisbury; by Edward T. Stevens, Hon. Curator of the Blackmore Museum. 8°, cloth, uncut. London, 1870 5.87

This extraordinary collection of material, representing the labor of aboriginal man in Europe and America, is the result of the munificence and taste of Mr. William Blackmore, who not only provided the very large sum needed for the establishment of the institution, but has made several voyages to America to complete its series. Much the largest portion of the volume is devoted to the description of the utensils, weapons, and ornaments manufactured by the American Indians. Their habitations, mounds, fortifications, and antiquities are described at great length, and with much evident research. The text is accompanied by a large number of wood-cuts, illustrative of the various objects forming the collection We may add that having seen Mr. Blackmore's Museum at Salisbury, England, we can safely commend its study to any American Archæologist, who may be visiting that city.

2269 [STEVENS, John.] A New Collection of Voyages and Travels, Into Several Parts of the World, none of them ever before Printed in English. Containing, 1. The Description etc., of the Molucca and Philipine Islands, by I. de Argensola. 2. A new Account of Carolina by Mr. Lawson. 3. The Travels of P. de Cieza in Peru... Illustrated with several maps, and cuts, 2 vols, 4°.

London: Printed for J. Knapton, Andrew Bell, D. Midwinter, Will. Taylor, A. Collins, and T. Baker, 1711

This collection of Voyages published at different periods from 1708 to 1711, was first issued as a monthly serial. It is complete with seven narratives of Voyages announced on the serial title page of 708 as never before printed in English. This would indicate that Lawson's Account of Carolina was printed from the MSS. of the author, being first printed as a portion of this collection.

2326 TARLETON. [Another Edition.] Campaigns of 1780 and 1781. 8°, uncut. Dublin, 1787 5.50

"Gives a minute detail of all the military operations in both Carolinas, and part of Virginia." Rich.

This history is, in general, a compilation of the official letters of the British officers, both in the sea and land service; of the American and French commanders, which have appeared in the newspapers, with Lord Rawdon's campaign, from the Remembrancer and Annual Register. The military transactions are collected into a regular order: the author, enters into a very minute detail of his own services, and makes a very free comment on those of others, and in particular of Lord Cornwallis. His conclusions are not, however, always logically deduced, nor, as we conceive, warranted by military science. The author appears every where forward on the canvas; and when his importance is estimated by the weight of his own remarks, we are tempted frequently to remove him to the back ground.

Paris, 1837

This noble collection has rendered accessible, in a familiar language, many of the rarest and most valuable narratives of contests and adventure among the Indians of America. Some were indeed to be found alone in manuscripts jealously guarded, and all were, beside rarity, almost as obscure by reason of their Gothic print, equally antique Spanish, or barbarous Latin, as the pictographs of the Aztecs, or the quipus of the Peruvians whose stories they recounted. Their value can best be estimated by the titles of the several volumes, which will be found at length under the names of their respective authors.

2341 TEZOZOMOC (A.). Histoire Du Mexique par Don Alvaro Tezozomoc Traduite Sur un manuscrit inedit. Par H. Ternaux Compans. 2 vols., 8°. 2.50

Paris: Chez P. Janet Librairie, 1853

History of Mexico by Don Alvaro Tezozomoc. Translated from an unpublished manuscript. The only author who mentions Tezozomoc is Veytia. In his history of ancient Mexico he informs us that he wrote his work in 1598. He had in his youth known the old men who had seen the empire of Montezuma in all its glory; and who revived all the traditions with which they were so familiar. Tozozomoc was a descendant of the Kings of Arzaputzalco, and his work is important for comparison with that of Ixtlilxochitl, a prince of the royal house of Tezcuco; which our author treats as in a state of vassalage to his own ancestors. Tezozomoc's history bears the marks of fidelity and exactness, although his family pride induces him to exalt too highly the supremacy of the Aztecs. It is wholly occupied with the narrative of the conquest of the surrounding nations by the Aztecs, and is brought down only to the period of the arrival of Cortez.

Primera [Secunda, Tercera] Parte de los Veinte i vne libros Rituales i Monarchia Indiana, con el Origen y guerras de los Indios Occidentales de sus Poblaciones, Descubrimiento, Conquista, Conuersion, y otras cosas marauillosas de la mesma tierra distribuydos en tres tomos. Compuesto por F. Juan de Torquemada. 3 vols., folio, vellum, uncut. En Madrid en la officena y acosta de Nicolas Rodriguez Franco. Año de, 1723 3.00

First, second and third part, of the twenty-one books of ceremonies, and the Indian monarchy, with the origin and wars of the West Indies, of their peoples, discovery, conquest, conversion and other marvelous matters of the same land. Juan de Torquemada, whom Alainan calls the "Livy of New Spain," studied in Mexico, where he took the habit of St. Francis, and became the Provincial of the order for that country. He wrote his Indian Monarchy, after having collected everything which he could find that related to the history of the country, and the customs, manners, laws, &c., of its aboriginal inhabitants. This work forms a collection, indispensable to all who desire to know much of the ancient history of Mexico, and its inhabitants, as well as to all those writers who expect to borrow their material from the stores of others. The edition of 1723 is the most complete, having been edited by the indefatigable Barcia, and is preferred by scholars to the first edition, printed in three volumes at Madrid in 1613.

2396 TURNER (O.). History of the Pioneer Settlement of Phelps and Gorham's Purchase, and Morris's Reserve; embracing the Counties of Monroe, Ontario, Livingston, Yates, Steuben, Most of Wayne and Allegany, and parts of Orleans, Genesee and Wyoming. To which is added a supplement, or extension of the Pioneer History of Monroe County. The whole preceded by some account of French and English dominion border wars of the Revolution, Indian Councils and land cessions the progress of Settlement westward from the Valley of the Mohawk—early difficulties with the Indians — our immediate predecessors, the Senecas — with a "Glance at the Iroquois." By O. Turner. 8°, cloth. Rochester: William Alling, 1857 3.25

More than half of this volume is occupied with personal reminiscences by the early settlers; of their association or conflict with the Indians, and other unpublished material relating to them.

2397 TURNER (O.). Pioneer History of the Holland Purchase of Western New York: embracing some account of the Ancient Remains; a brief history of our immediate predecessors, the Confederated Iroquois, their system of Government, wars, etc.,—a synopsis of Colonial History: some notices of the Border Wars of the Revolution: and a History of Pioneer Settlement under the auspices of the Holland company; including reminiscences of the War of 1812; the origin, progress and completion of the Erie Canal, etc., etc., etc. By O. Turner. 8°, sheep. Buffalo: Geo. H. Derby & Co., 1850 1.63

Although largely a resumé of well known histories of the Indians of Western New York, yet it is interspersed with no inconsiderable information regarding the aborigines gleaned by the author from his own personal experience, and unprinted documents. Beside amply redeeming the promise of his title page, his narratives of Indian captives, and biographies of Indian chiefs and border warriors, give additional value not vaunted in it.

Description of New Netherland, (such as it now is), including the Nature, Character, Situation and Fruitfulness of that land, together with the profitable and happy accidents there found, for the support of man (whether natives or foreigners). As also the manners and uncommon qualities of the savages, or aborigines of the country, and a particular account of the wonderful nature and habits of the Beaver. To which is also added, a discourse on the situation of New Netherland, between a Netherland Patriot, and a New Netherlander. Described by Adrian Van der Donck, Doctor of Laws, who is still in New Netherland. And to this is appended : The advantageous regulations, of the Most Worshipful, the Burgomasters of this City, regarding the affairs of New Netherland. The second edition, ornamented with a pertinent map of that land, and cleared of many printing faults.

2421 VAN HEUVEL (J. A.). El Dorado; being a Narrative of the Circumstances which gave rise to reports, in the sixteenth century, of the existence of a Rich and Splendid City in South America, to which that name was given, and which led to many enterprises in search of it; including a Defence of Sir Walter Raleigh, in regard to the relations made by him respecting it, and a nation of female Warriors, in the vicinity of the Amazon, in the narrative of his expedition to the Oronoke in 1595. 2424 VELASQUEZ (P.). Memoir of an Eventful Expedition in Central America; resulting in the discovery of the Idolatrous City of Iximaya, In an unexplored region, and the possession of two Remarkable Aztec Children, Descendants and Specimens of the Sacerdotal Caste (now nearly extinct), of the Ancient Aztec Founders of the Ruined Temples of that Country, described by John L. Stevens Esq., and other Travellers. Translated from the Spanish of Pedro Velasquez, of San Salvador. 8°, pp. 35. New York: E. F. Applegate, Printer, 1850

This purports to be transcripts of the journal of Velasquez describing the adventures of the writer and two young Americans in an expedition among the Indians of the Maya race, which resulted fatally to the latter adventurers. It is the most circumstantial fiction which the brain of an advertising agent ever conceived. The so called Aztec children were the descendants of an Irish woman living in Central America.

1.00

The adventures of Don Juan Vargas, narrated by himself. Translated from the unedited Spanish manuscript, by Charles Navarin The author accompanied Alvarado in his conquest of Guatemala and was an active participator in the dangers of several Campaigns against the Indian natives of Mexico. The greater part of his narrative is accordingly taken up with the narrative of his adventures among the aborigines. His narrative is here printed for the first time having remained for three centuries hidden in one of the libaries of Andalusia.

History of the Conquest of the Province of Itza, the reduction and growth of that of the Lacandons, and other savage Indians, of the annexation of the kingdom of Guatemala to the provinces of Yucatan, in North America. Villagutierre's relation of the wars, by which the Spaniards conquered the Indians of Yucatan and Guatemala, has from its extreme rarity remained almost unknown. Like most of the Spanish histories of affairs in America, it is more largely devoted to the spiritual than the military conquest of the Indians; yet it is a valuable repertory of facts, relating to the Savages of the peninsula. Only this Primera Parte was ever printed.

London, | Printed by M. P. for Nathaniel Butter, | and Iohn Bellamie, 1638

The authorship of this exceedingly rare pamphlet, has been attributed to the personage, whose name is signed to the poem addressed to the reader with no authority, I think, beyond that of conjecture. The publishing committee of the Massachusetts Historical Society thus ascribed it, in their note to the reprint of the relation, in the third volume of their collections. It is a narrative of the battle with the Pequods, fought by Captains Mason and Underhill, an account of which was written by the last doughty commander, and printed in 1638, under the title of News from America. Vincent's relation is of even greater rarity than Underhill's.

The ninth, and last, of the Reports of the Indian Charity School established by Mr. Wheelock. It was originally termed the Moors Charity School, commencing in 1754, at Lebanon, and in 1771 transferred to Hanover, where it formed the germ of the institution, known as Dartmouth College. Among the first pupils came young Brant, the Mohawk warrior, who afterwards desolated the Wyoming Valley, and sat beside the Mohegan Indian, Samson Occum, who preached the gospel of peace to the same bloody savages. The fruits of the noble and disinterested labors of Mr. Wheelock, were visible among the aborigines for many years after the date of this report. At one time twenty-five Indians were receiving instruction in his school. Honored be the name of Eleazer Wheelock during all time, as one of the wisest and noblest friends of the red man.

This work, written with a zeal which often degenerates into vehemence, is an arraignment of the Spanish historians, from whom all the current notions of the Spanish invaders have been acquired. With much show of reason, he maintains the unworthiness of their accounts. The author was a resident of Rochester, N. Y., and the work was really published by Harper & Brothers of New York.

2586 WISCONSIN. Collections of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. 5 vols., 8°, [annual reports]. Madison, 1854 3.30

One of the noblest collections ever made by any historical society. It is a vast mass of original material, written mostly by border warriors, pioneers, voyageurs, and others who saw the events of which they wrote. By far the largest portion relates to the Aborigines who once occupied the territory. It is to the intelligence and zeal of the learned antiquary, Lyman C. Draper, that the public are indebted for this model of historical collections.

70 copies in this style.

2592 WITHERS (A. S.). Chronicles of Border Warfare, or A 10.50 History of the settlement by the Whites, of North-western Virginia: and of the Indian Wars and Massacres, In that section of the State; with Reflections, Anecdotes, &c. By Alexander S. Withers. 12°, half morocco extra, by Bradstreet, pp. iv, 319 + (1). Clarksburg, Va: Joseph Israel, 1831

Of this scarce book, very few copies are complete or in good condition. Having been issued in a remote corner of Northwestern Virginia, and designed principally for a local circulation, almost every copy was read by a country fire-side until scarcely legible. Most of the copies lack the table of contents. The author took much pains to be authentic, and his chronicles are considered by Western antiquarians, to form the best collection of frontier life and Indian warfare, that has been printed.

Rigidly suppressed by Aaron Burr, being so full of scandal.

2596 [WOOD.] A View of the Political Conduct of Aaron Burr, Esq. 8°, very scarce. N. Y., 1802 2.50

2597 WOOD (J. G.). The Natural History of Man; being an Account of the Manners and Customs of the Uncivilized Races of Men. By the Rev. J. G. Wood. Australia, New Zealand, Polynesia, America, Asia, and Ancient Europe. Imperial 8°, pp. 864. London: George Routledge & Sons, 1870 4.00

The author of this voluminous treatise upon the customs of Aboriginal Nations has made a copious and generally a judicious selection from works treating upon the peculiar rites, manners, and modes of life of the American Indians. Of the eight hundred and sixty-four pages which comprise the volume, two hundred and thirty-seven pages (513 to 750) are devoted to descriptions and illustrations of the savages of the Western continents and islands. One hundred and twelve engravings of their ceremonies, warfare weapons, utensils, and dwellings accompany the text.

2598 [WOOD (Silas).] Thoughts on the state of the American Indians By a Citizen of the United States. 16°, pp. 36. New York, 1794 1.00

2599 WOOD. A Sketch of the First Settlement of the Several Towns on Long-Island; with their Political Condition, to the end of the American Revolution. By Silas Wood. A New Edition. 8°. Brooklyn, N. Y.: Printed by Alden Spooner, 1828 6.50

This very excellent treatise contains almost all we know of the Indians of Long Island. The careful and intelligent author expended much time in collecting the data, and incidents relating to the various tribes of aborigines once inhabiting the island. Pages 61 to 80 are occupied solely with the information he collected, of which not the least reliable is the vocabulary on page 69.

Personal experiences with more or less picturesque coloring with the Comanches, Wiecos, and other Indian tribes.

2608 WRIGHT (J. W.). Chivington Massacre of the Cheyenne — Indians. 8°, pp. 6. [n. p., 1864]

Another witness adds his testimony to the monstrous burden of infamy, which Gov. Evans, and Col. Chivington must carry with them to an infamous immortality. The author repudiates even the claims of personal friendship, in his expression of honest indignation at the horrible perfidy of these two men. See Evans, and condition of Indian tribes.

2609 WRIGHT (R.). A Memoir of General James Oglethorpe, 2.00 one of the earliest reformers of Prison Discipline in England, and the founder of Georgia in America. By Robert Wright. 8°, cloth, uncut, pp. 414. London, 1867

Records the means by which one of the most sagacious English governors attached the Indian chiefs and people to his person and interests, by just and considerate dealings.

2615 YATES. History of the State of New-York. By Joseph W. Moulton. Part II. Novum Belgium. Map. 8°, cloth, uncut, pp. viii, 333, 428. New York: E. Bliss & E. White, 1826

Also by Mr. Moulton, entitled View and Description of New Orange, as it was in the year 1673. By J. W. Moulton, New York, 1825; plan, cloth, pp. 40; and another tract entitled New York 170 years ago, New York, 1843. The aboriginal history of New York is very ably treated, these divisions of the work being almost entirely devoted to an examination of the various questions, which have so vexed ethnologists regarding the "origin of the savages," the pre-Columbian history and discovery of America, and a narrative of events connected with Indian history, to the year 1633.
